Auto emissions deadline extended by Ruckelshaus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Environmental Protection Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus today granted a one-year extension of the 1975 antipollution standards for automobiles, but established interim standards requiring some use of new antipollution devices.

Ruckelshaus set interim standards which, he said, would require the use of "catalytic converters" on all domestic automobiles sold in California in 1975.

A somewhat less strict standard was set for the rest of the nation and Ruckelshaus said it "will likely result in some catalysts used on some models nationwide by 1975."

Ruckelshaus said he believed that the "oxidation catalyst"— the antipollution device on which the U.S. auto industry has been working—could do the job and must be used if the legal requirement for a 90 per cent reduction of auto emissions is to be achieved.

He said the purpose of his interim standards was to "phase in" the use of catalysts.

The 90 per cent emission reduction, originally scheduled for 1975-model cars, now must be achieved by the 1976 models. The present law permits no further extension.

The original standards would have limited hydrocarbon emissions to 0.41 grams per mile compared with the 3.0 grams permitted in 1974.

Instead, Ruckelshaus has now set the 1975 standard at 1.5 grams, exactly half the 1974 level, and he set a separate standard of 0.9 grams per mile for California in 1975.

The original standard for carbon monoxide would have been 3.4 grams per mile in 1975, compared with 28.0 grams in 1974.

The interim standard, instead, will be 15 grams in 1975 nationwide and 9.0 grams in California.

The interim standards are somewhat tougher than those proposed, in general, by auto companies who sought the one-year delay.

In making the announcement, Ruckelshaus said, "this is a terribly complex and important decision that involves the whole mix of our nation's struggle for a cleaner environment.

"Involved are billions of dollars, hundreds of thousands of jobs, the single most important segment of our economy, the largest aggregate man-made contributor to air pollution and the ambivalence of the American public's intensive drive for healthy air and apparently insatiable appetite for fast, efficient, and convenient automobiles."

Ruckelshaus said because of the potential disruption of society involved in attempting to apply the catalyst technology across all car lines in one year, "I believe it is the better part of wisdom to phase in the catalyst."

He said he chose California to begin the use of catalysts because of its serious air pollution problems, its experience with advanced emission controls and its characteristics as a relatively separate and isolated market.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — There may be gold in them thar' cow chips.

Chemists say cattle manure can be converted into pipeline gas by mixing the dried manure with hydrogen, which reacts to form methane and ethane, the major constituents of natural gas.

Herman Feldmann of the U.S. Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh told delegates to the 165th national meeting of the American Chemical Society all about it. Only he calls it "hydrogasification of cattle manure to pipeline gas."

Feldmann says the Bureau of Mines is developing technology to convert solid wastes to clean energy processes. He contends that if an economic way of doing this can be found, the solid waste disposal problem could be solved and the clean energy shortage alleviated.

Which brings us back to cattle manure. "An attractive feed stock for a synthetic natural gas plant" is what Feldmann calls it. For example:

—Cattle manure is abundant, and the size and concentration of feed lots simplify its collection in the amounts required for reasonably sized gas plants.

—The manure requires no preparation, apart from partial drying. The cow has taken care of the necessary shredding and grinding.

—The areas with the highest concentration of cattle feed are also areas of high natural gas production — so gas transmission lines are usually available.

—Experiments show that cattle manure is easily converted to a gas having a greater heating value than could be gotten by converting coal or naphtha, a volatile petroleum.

How is it done?

Feldmann says the reaction occurs at around 1,000 degrees and at a pressure of around 1,000 psig — pounds per square inch gauge — thus allowing the gas produced to be injected into gas transmission lines without recompression.

About 40 per cent of the carbon in the manure is converted with the hydrogen. The remaining portion of the carbon is used for the production of hydrogen, so that the only residue remaining after converting the manure to pipeline gas is the sterile inorganic ash.

Storm in Northeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An early spring storm that paralyzed parts of the Midwest churned across the Northeast today bringing heavy snow and freezing temperatures.

Freeze or frost warnings were extended from Missouri and Illinois into the Ohio Valley and to the Gulf Coast states. Only Florida was expected to be spared. Birmingham, Ala., reported a record April 10 low of 31 degrees.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for parts of Maine, where five inches already had hit Rumford. Greenville and Houlton had four inches. Several more inches were predicted for today.

Gale-force winds pounded much of the Great Lakes region and the northern New England coast.

In the Midwest, where the winterlike storm struck fiercely Monday and Tuesday, cleanup operations progressed and most snow-clogged highways were opened.

Fair skies prevailed over most of the nation outside the East.

The death count for storm-related incidents totaled 30 for Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Most of the victims were pushing cars, shoveling snow or seeking shelter from the storm when they died.

Moderate temperatures were expected to help the Iowa situation, but just as relief was coming, a new peril arose— flooding streams. The National Weather Service said the Des Moines River, Cedar Creek and the Skunk River all would be over their banks by the weekend.

In Missouri, new concern was expressed about the flooding Mississippi and Missouri rivers. The Corps of Army Engineers was assessing possible effects of the storm and additional snow melt on the St. Louis region. Levees in Illinois and Missouri withstood a strong attack from the pounding of six-foot waves stirred up by winds up to 60 miles per hour Tuesday.

Flooding in Monroe County, Mich., south of Detroit, and the Toledo, Ohio, area were said to be the worst in the past halfcentury. Damage estimates soared into the millions as residents began returning to homes damaged by the storm-tossed waters of Lake Erie.

Meanwhile, a biology professor at Southern Illinois University raised the possibility of a new problem in the flood areas.

Dr. Joel Margalit said standing water left from the floods could produce a bumper crop of disease-carrying mosquitos. He listed encephalitis, a disease characterized by inflamation of the brain, among the viruses potentially threatening the flooded areas.

About seven million acres of land in the Mississippi system were still under water, according to Maj. Gen. Charles C. Noble, president of the Mississippi River Commission. Total damage along the system has been estimated so far at $160 million.

Alternate education plan pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Claiborne Pell today proposed a new federal aid plan for the nation's public schools as an alternative to President Nixon's special revenue sharing for education.

The plan suggested by Pell, chairman of the Senate education subcommittee, includes extension of two major aid programs; per-pupil grants to school districts; property-tax rebates, and incentives to states that equalize expenditures among districts.

Pell said in a prepared Senate speech that the Nixon proposal "is simply a less attractive version of the education revenue-sharing bill we found so unattractive in the last Congress."

The Rhode Island Democrat predicted there would be little support for the new administration measure but promised his panel would give it a fair hearing.

Pell's alternative package would include these features:

—A four-year extension of present major federal aid programs including the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and aid for areas with concentrations of federal employes. But he said these might well be revised as the subcommittee works on the bill.

—A new general aid program of $100 paid to school districts for each child enrolled in a school, plus $25 per child for those whose family income is less than $4,000, roughly the poverty level for a family of four. This would not start until 1976.

—Federal payments of up to 10 per cent of a state's aid-to-education program if the state adopts plans to equalize education expenditures among school districts. This would begin in 1977.

—A new plan of rebates to homeowners and renters for a portion of their local property taxes, beginning in 1976.

—A sharp reduction in the level of authorizations for federal education programs. The administration has been spending far less than the authorizations.

The rebate on property taxes would work this way:

During the first year of the program, the federal government would rebate to the taxpayer any local property tax that exceeded five per cent of his income. This would apply to a homeowner who paid the tax directly or to a renter who paid it indirectly.

After the first year, states would have to continue the rebates with Washington paying one-third of the cost.

Nixon's special revenue-sharing proposal would fold into block grants to the states several of the present major categorical programs including much of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, the biggest federal aid program.

City policeman honor grad at Patrol Academy

City Police Patrolman Michael L. Stritenberger has graduated from the Ohio State Patrol Academy with top honors, Police Chief Rodman Scott announces.

Stritenberger, appointed as patrolman in January, was one of the top two graduates of the class, Scott said. He presently is undergoing training in departmental procedures with an experienced officer.

Stritenberger, 25, lives at 1298 Dayton Ave., is married and has one child. He was a dispatcher with the department for a year before his appointment as a patrolman in September.

Scott said the addition of Stritenberger to the force still leaves the department one man short of the 12-man designated strength. The police department is authorized for 15 men but City Council only appropriates money for 12, Scott said.

Chief Scott also announced that Patrolman William Robinson has completed a one-week school covering in-depth accident investigation. The school was held at the Ohio State Patrol Academy in Columbus. Robinson is a six-year veteran of the force.

State crime unit planned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill establishing a state crimefighting unit was readied for introduction into the Ohio House today.

Sponsored by Rep. Edward J. Orlett, D-24 Dayton, the bill would create a Department of Crime Prevention and Control.

The Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation and the Peace Officers Training Council, both now under the attorney general, would be transferred to the new department.

The new unit would be authorized to investigate criminal activity and drug related crimes anywhere in the state.

CREEEEAK! . . .

Relatives and friends at the Washington C.H. church wedding were startled, then titillated, as the best man opened the little blue box to produce the ceremonial ring . . . The hinge made a noise, distant but penetrating, which was reminiscent of the introduction to an "Inner Sanctum" episode . . .

Some scientists say that sounds never die . . . Even the thunder of Gettysburg and Jenny Lind's lilting soprano are riding their sound waves somewhere in the firmament . . .

If that be true, the little blue ring box has a good boost toward immortality . . . The father of the bridegroom was so taken by its performance at the church service that he turned it over to the Rotary Club's sergeant-at-arms . . . And that panjandrum put the little blue ring box through its best performance before a turned-up microphone at the club meeting Tuesday . . . Unfortunately, the Rotarian jeweler, who had supplied the ring (and box), has a Gallic sixth sense and had made a hasty exit . . .

As he left the Country Club grounds he must have heard that haunting CREEEEAK . . .

Reds build up supplies in south

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Vietnamese sent about 1,000 tons of artillery shells and other ammunition into northern provinces of South Vietnam last week, U.S. intelligence sources report.

Meanwhile, an estimated 700 North Vietnamese trucks were said to have rolled down the Ho Chi Minh supply trail in Laos during the same period.

Most of this materiel also is expected to end up in South Vietnam, the sources said.

Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson spoke Tuesday of a "continuing buildup in the materiel available to the North Vietnamese forces in South Vietnam."

"While this does not in itself point to the likelihood of any major new offensive in the short term," Richardson said, "nevertheless, the process by which this has been going on has been in violation of the cease-fire agreement."

Thus, the North Vietnamese supply shipments have been continuing without letup despite President Nixon's warnings first uttered in March and twice repeated since then.

South Vietnamese military authorities have told American officials the North Vietnamese will have been resupplied and equipped sufficiently to launch major attacks this month in the two vulnerable provinces just below the demilitarized zone.

Regardless of differing estimates as to when a North Vietnamese offensive might come, there is general agreement that Hanoi is preparing for extensive military operations in South Vietnam, where the war was supposed to have ended through the cease-fire Jan. 27.

Reinforcing this belief are intelligence reports of Communist engineer troops improving an important road across the DMZ so trucks can drive directly south through the old U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh, regardless of weather.

Also, U.S. intelligence says the North Vietnamese have extended a motor-fuel pipeline from Laos to South Vietnam's A Shau Valley, a traditional infiltration route. This pipeline will carry gas and oil to North Vietnamese armored vehicles and supply trucks, experts say.

Search continues for drowned man

Diving and dragging operations are still underway at Deer Creek Reservoir as a search for the body of Darrell Wheeler, 20, of Stoutsville, who drowned Sunday when his boat capsized, continues.

The search is being centered about midway in the lake, south of the Ohio 207 boat dock, according to Pickaway County sheriff's deputies. Dragging operations have been under way since Monday morning but to no avail.

Wheeler, and three Circleville residents were in the motor boat when it suddenly flipped over. The three other passengers were pulled from the water minutes after the accident, but Wheeler could not be found.

House backs Nixon's veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says America's consumers and taxpayers will be eventual winners because of veto-sustaining victories in Congress by what he calls his courageous though outnumbered supporters.

The Constitution's demand of a two-thirds majority for a congressional override of a presidential veto enabled Nixon to post a 51-vote victory Tuesday in the year's first test of House willingness to force him to spend money appropriated by Congress.

"Ahead lie further tests which will demand from us the same measure of courage and cooperation," Nixon said after his veto of a $120-million rural water-and sewer-grant bill was sustained.

It was his second veto victory of the year. The Senate last week sustained his rejection of a bill authorizing a $2.6-billion program for rehabilitating the handicapped.

The President thanked those who upheld him on those bills. The House, he said, demonstrated it has courage to take a firm stand in favor of consumers and taxpayers. Congress, he said, should "stay the course with me in keeping a tight rein on the federal budget."

The Senate originally approved the rehabilitation bill 86 to 2 when just a simple majority was needed but Nixon emerged a four-vote victor in the 60-36 veto decision.

Pigskin dressings save girl from death; skin grafts start

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) — Pigskin dressings that have kept nine-year-old Sandra Kimble alive for nearly a month have done their job. Doctors have started making grafts of the youngster's own skin to get her back on her feet.

Sandra, whose nightgown caught fire from an electric heater on March 13, has been receiving daily applications of the skin of pigs under the supervision of Dr. Ben Knecht and physiotherapist Carmen Bossenbrock at Deaconess Hospital. The technique was developed by Dr. Knecht in 1965 at the University of Iowa and pioneered there.

Under the method, pigskin is laid on the burned areas daily after the old skin is washed away. Doctors say it reduces the chance of infection, prevents fluid loss, eases pain and improves the appetite.

Sandra's pigskin dressings, which cost more than $100 a day, came from clean hides of freshly killed swine flown from the Burn Treatment Skin Bank in Phoenix, Ariz.

The hides are treated so as to be sterile, shaved and cut into strips. Rolled over gauze, the pigskin is packaged, sealed and refrigerated.

Sandra needed about two and a half rolls of pigskin every other day. It had to be removed within one to four days or the child's body would have rejected it with violent reaction.

Dr. Knecht, who came to Wenatchee a year ago, says the first 48 hours are crucial in guarding against "burn shock," and that's when the pigskin serves as a savior.

Sandra began receiving grafts of her own skin on various parts of her body on Tuesday.

Ohio GOP solons fight 'railroaded' budget

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio House Democrats say they are determined to get Gov. John Gilligan's $9.8 billion budget bill through the Finance Committee this week over objections of Republicans accusing them of "a railroad job."

Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, started twice-a-day hearings Tuesday and said he will seek to have the measure ready for a committee vote Thursday afternoon.

House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, said he wants the bill called up for a floor vote next week before the legislators take a planned, 10-day Easter recess. The bill now is $118 million more than the original spending authority asked by the governor as a result of revised tax revenue estimates.

In other action Tuesday, the Senate passed 29-2 a measure extending to 18 to 21-year-olds virtually all the legal rights of adulthood except the right to buy liquor and high powered beer.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, sponsored the "age of majority" measure which he said would make Ohio the 33rd state to lower the so-called age of majority since a U.S. Constitutional amendment lowered the voting age to 18.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, offered a labor amendment to include the right to buy alcoholic drinks. His amendment lost on a standing vote—14 to 17—with senators heading off a roll call tally that would have put their votes on the record.

Arguing for his amendment, Meshel told the Senate "it is incongruous that they have the right to vote on a local option, but not the right to buy a six-pack at the neighborhood store they helped put in business."

Aronoff, who sponsored the same measure last year but watched it die in the House because of the liquor provision, said he hopes the legislature will not "get bogged down" over it this year because of the many other "meritorious" provisions it contains. But he added: "I don't think we've heard the last of the liquor issue."

Among other things, the bill would allow Ohioans 18 and over to sue and be sued, enter into contracts, and mary without parental consent.

Voting against the bill, which now goes to the House, were Sens. Richard G. Reichel, R-29 Massillon, and Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland—Van Meter after urging reinstatement of the liquor provision.

Rep. Frederich Young, R-38 Dayton, and other Republicans on the House Finance Committee accused majority Democrats of a "railroad job" on the Pallbearers for the burial in Marion Cemetery at Aid, Lawrence County, were Wayne and Winford Kingery, Ralph, Lloyd and Mark Mays and Robert Lambert.

DWI case jury unable to agree

A jury of six men and six women was unable to reach a decision in a drunken driving case Tuesday and was declared "hung" by Acting Municipal Court Judge John Bryan.

The jury had heard the case of John D. Roberts, 22, of Columbus, charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol in connection with an auto accident in the 700 block of E. Paint Street Dec. 1. Sgt. Virgil Harris was the arresting officer.

The jury deliberated for nearly two hours before foreman Dale Merritt announced that they had been unable to reach a verdict. Other members of the jury were: Barbara Andrews, Eddie Braden, Thomas W. Harris, Sharon Bowers, Mary Belle Shoup, Charles Osborne, Mary Kelley, Marjorie Hatfield, Vera Palmer, Forrest Rhoads and Barbara Thompson.

Further action in the case is pending.

Goldwater raps Watergate murk

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says Republican candidates will lose all over the country next year and the GOP will be out of the White House in 1976 unless President Nixon acts now to clear up the Watergate case.

Further, the Arizona Republican said in an interview published today by the Christian Science Monitor, the damage done to Nixon's image by the case is drying up financial contributions to the GOP.

Goldwater said that when he urged Nixon to speak out on the situation, he was told by the President, "I've already done something." The senator said he was later told Nixon's staff would testify before a grand jury, "which I don't think is enough."

2 robbery suspects nabbed after running gun battle

SALEM (AP)—Police officers staged a running gun battle with two men in a car speeding along I-76 and Ohio 43, arresting them after they crashed their car and fled on foot before Highway Patrol shotguns, officers reported.

Two men were treated at a Ravenna hospital, where a spokesman said they were in fair condition Tuesday night after the incident.

Neither law officers nor the hospital would identify the men, but a hospital spokesman said they were in their 20s and had said they were from Cleveland.

Two men armed with .38-caliber revolvers bound the owner of Williams Gun Shop in Salem, 57-year-old John Williams, and his wife, their daughter, and a customer, then took guns from the shop, police reported. Williams said nothing else was taken.

The customer, who wasn't identified, had been suspicious when the men came into the shop, Williams said, so had copied a license number.

The Highway Patrol spotted a car with that license and gave chase at the intersection of Ohio 43 and I-76, three miles south of Kent and about 20 miles west of Salem. The men in the car fired at the patrolmen, who returned the shots, the patrol said.

One civilian car was hit, but no one was injured, the officers said. They and a civilian witness said one car was forced off the highway and that the men fired to gain right-of-way from other drivers.

The car crashed into another car on a side rode, police said, and the men fled on foot, stilling shooting at the officers.

A resident whose home was near the police roadblock at that point said police fired a shotgun and one of the men fell to the ground. The other threw his hands up and surrendered, the witness said.

Police said the FBI was investigating.

Merchants review shoplift problem, civic betterment

Shoplifting and the use of Operation Mainstream personnel for improvement projects were the topics discussed at the Wednesday morning meeting of the Downtown Business Association of the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce.

John Thomas, deputy director of Operation Mainstream for Fayette and Clinton counties, was the guest speaker. He reviewed the program which is aimed at taking people off welfare and providing workers for non-profit groups.

The businessmen discussed using Operation Mainstream personnel for improving alleys and sidewalks and for other projects.

Association members discussed hiring security police in an attempt to control shoplifting in the downtown area. A telephone alert system was also discussed.

A meeting of the Washington Downtown Association will be held at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday in the Dayton Power & Light building to discuss parking.

budget bill following Gilligan's call late last week of a $118 million addition to proposed expenditures.

Shoemaker, who sat as a minority member of the committee several terms before Democrats won control of the lower chamber last year, brushed the charge aside. "I can remember a lot of times as a minority member when I rode the same railroad," he said.

Shoemaker named an 11-member subcommittee—with himself as chairman—to draft a substitute bill for presentation to the full committee Thursday afternoon. Anyone wanting to amend the bill will get their opportunity at that time, he said.

In floor action, the House passed and sent to the Senate a measure allowing city councils to give pay raises to police and firemen who obtain additional education. The vote was 81-4.

Another bill winning 86-0 House approval expands the authority of the Ohio Highway Patrol to investigate motor vehicle titling matters.

Besides the age of majority measure, the Senate passed one other bill and sent it to the Houae. That measure, by Meshel and others, exempts food processing operations from licensing if their facilities are not offered for hire.

A new bill introduced in the House would require applicants for real estate salesmen's licenses to receive 30 hours of classroom instruction prior to taking an examination. The measure by Rep. Tom Fries, D-35 Dayton, and other Democrats came in the wake of a controversy surrounding the issuance of a license to former GOP Gov. James Rhodes four days before he left office in 1971.

Rhodes and some of his key aides received both broker's and salesmen's licenses.

Rhodes' counsel has advised Commerce Department investigators looking into the licenses that the former governor successfully completed an oral examination.

New Senate bills received Tuesday would make rape a non-probationable offense, permit ballot printing contracts to be awarded to any bidder in the state rather than within the county, allow common pleas courts to increase court costs to finance computerized legal research services, and exclude bonds for municipal electrical plants and distribution systems from municipal debt limitations.

Senate vote panel slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A resolution naming a select committee to make a recommendation in the disputed election between Sen. Gene Slagle, D-26 Galion, and former Republican Sen. Robin Turner of Marion was to go before the Senate today.

Scheduled to be named to the committee were Sens. Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington; Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton; Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati; Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, and David Headley, D-28 Barberton.

Slagle beat Turner by 152 votes in the November election, but Turner argued that names were improperly rotated on the ballot in Marion County, one of eight counties in the district.

Slagle has argued the evidence proves there was no fraud and that improper rotation of names is not a valid reason to declare the election void in Marion County.

Spacecraft directed

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The course of the Jupiter-bound Pioneer 11 spacecraft was altered by a rocket burn today as the 570-pound payload hurtled through space at 84,000 miles an hour.

Ohio EPA supporters are heard

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The issue and speakers were much the same, but the atmosphere much improved Tuesday night as Senate hearings got under way on the House-approved women's Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) to the U.S. Constitution.

Everyone got a seat, the accoustics were good, and the testimony less emotional—in sharp contrast to each of four House hearings on the proposal to prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex. About 250— half the size of the House crowds—showed up.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, chairman of the Senate Elections Committee which is hearing the proposal, moved the hearings from the Statehouse to a large hearing room in the State Office Building one block west of the Statehouse.

Two dozen witnesses signed to testify on behalf of the ERA at the long hearing, which started at 7:30 p.m.—a half hour earlier than usual. Aronoff said he will conduct another hearing next Tuesday night for opponents, and that the committee will vote at a later open hearing on whether to recommend approval to the full Senate.

Ohio would be the 31st state to ratify the amendment as the situation now stands.

However, there is substantial opposition in the Senate, which allowed the same proposal to die a year ago. Polls this year have shown supporters face an uphill battle.

Rep. Michael P. Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, the main House sponsor, was the first to testify before the Senate panel. He reiterated that Ohio has been tabbed as "a pivotal state" in the drive to complete ratification this year. He predicted the other seven states needed would fall into line if Ohio acts favorably.

Prof. Ruth Bader Ginsburg of the Columbia University College of Law was the proponents' chief legal witness. She denied claims that the amendment would result in some of the "horrors" envisioned by opponents in Ohio and other states. Among them, she said, were fears of common rest rooms, women being drafted "unless men are drafted," and loss of support from husbands in event of divorce.

The New York professor also discounted claims that discriminations against women can be ended through passage of new laws by the Congress and the states." Only those who have failed to learn the lessons of the past would accept that counsel," she maintained.

OFBF fights House bill on rollback

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Farm Bureau warned Tuesday that the proposed Phase 4 price restrictions could bring higher food prices, greater demands for food and the danger of black markets.

The statement was made in a telegram to Ohio Congressmen announcing the Farm Bureau's opposition to a bill, scheduled to be voted on in the House Thursday. The bill would roll back prices, interest rates and rents to Jan. 10 levels.

Meanwhile, meat prices were returning to normal across Ohio following last week's boycott, but meat suppliers still were operating at less than capacity as some farmers continued to keep their animals off the market.

A federal consumer affairs official said a meat shortage is a real possibility if the Phase 4 guidelines are adopted.

"After all, nobody has yet devised a way to compel a farmer to raise a cow or grow an extra acre of wheat if he doesn't want to," said Betty Bay.

Mrs. Bay, director for state and local programs for the Office of Consumer Affairs, spoke Tuesday at a meeting of the Ohio State University Agriculture Alumni Association.

A spot check of meat sales figures during last week's boycott showed meat profits down 12 to 15 per cent in some major stores, while fish, poultry and dairy sales reached new levels.

While livestock prices in Ohio fluctuated last week, they have remained steady this week.

Stock prices slow down

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market paused today in its upward thrust, after three straight days of gains. Analysts said the thrust of the market appeared positive.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 0.75 at 959.74. Advancing issues on the New York Stock Exchange led declining issues 611 to 525.

"The market deserves a pullback," said Robert Stovall of Reynolds Securities. "We've had three strong days in a row."

The Dow gained 37.07 points in the three prior sessions as investors reacted to the good first-quarter earnings brought in by some of the larger companies.

On the American Stock Exchange, issues were mixed in quiet trading. The noon price-change index was up .01 at 24.18.

The noon index of some 1,400 common stocks on the NYSE was down 0.12 at 59.61.

Solons get pension plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, declaring there is "room for substantial improvement" in federal laws dealing with private pension plans, today revived 16-month-old administration proposals virtually intact.

In a message to Congress, Nixon added little to his longpending recommendations and rejected two ideas that he had been urged to adopt by organized labor:

—The President said a proposal to provide federal insurance to protect the pensions of workers who now suffer when their employers go out of business or fall upon hard times would entail government regulation "on a scale out of keeping with our free enterprise system."

—He said nothing about union recommendations that workers who change jobs be permitted to carry their pension benefits with them.

Nixon's major proposals were virtually identical to those he espoused in the past.

Perhaps the most important one would provide for some "vesting" of pension rights, meaning that a worker would become legally entitled upon retirement to benefits earned, regardless of whether he quit or was fired before retirement age.

Tape recorder stolen from downtown office

Police investigated the theft of a tape recorded and several tapes from the Office of Dr. Lawrence W. Burris, 239 E. Court St., Wednesday morning.

Mustangs and rangeland

It now appears that the wild mustang, accorded special protection by a federal law enacted in 1971, threatens to overgraze some of the public rangeland on which it roams. This news will doubtless touch off some I-told-you-sos and perhaps even a horse laugh or two among those who opposed the legislation.

The fact is, word that there are more wild mustangs than the government's experts had supposed makes no basic change in the situation. The rate at which these animals were being slaughtered would have all but guaranteed their extinction had the protection law not been passed. There is still need for that law. If it were removed from the books the slaughter would undoubtedly start up again.

The problem now is a different one:preserve the mustangs without allowing their numbers to get out of hand in relationship to the available range. It is a matter of common sense.

The objective should be that envisioned in the 1971 law; that is, protection of an animal which has come to symbolize the free spirit of the American West. This should be balanced against the need for reasonable curbs on the mustang population.

Nixon and the Eisenhower example

WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger's aim is to get the Vietnam War back on Page 40. Only if the bitter passions coming out of that long and terrible conflict can be damped down will it be possible to get congressional approval for reconstructing both South and North Vietnam.

But President Nixon is moving in the opposite direction. His tough combative speech to the nation could have only one result — to stir anew all the intense feeling that raged during the 11 years of the war. Far from healing wounds, the speech was calculated to lacerate those wounds.

For all the President's rhetoric about the small minority opposing his policy the country was deeply divided. Now that the war is ended the only humane and sensible goal is to try to close ranks, with the vision of a nation united. Just the opposite is achieved by a combative speech invoking patriotic pride bordering on jingoism.

The returning prisoners of war are in the middle. These are brave, steadfast men. They endured months and years of bleak imprisonment and now it comes out, with the release of the last prisoner, in many instances torture and humiliation.

In press conferences across the country individual prisoners described the ordeal they underwent. This appears to have been an outpouring orchestrated by the Defense Department. These carefully selected prisoners vented emotions long suppressed in the discipline of prison camp.

THE SHOCKING revelations may have come under less orderly and controlled circumstances. But it would be hard to imagine anything that could so completely turn public opinion against any help not only for North Vietnam but for the South as well. As President Nguyen Van Thieu comes here he will add his full measure of opposition to any assistance for the Communist North. And he is hardly a figure to command congressional and public approval for money to rebuild the shattered South.

Cries are already heard for a war crimes trial that would put the prison camp torturers in the public stocks. That could be the final blow to any hope for the program that Kissinger negotiated in Hanoi. It would keep the cauldron of hatreds boiling.

Why could not an impartial international tirbunal examine the whole issue of atrocities when passions have somewhat cooled? Carpet bombing of the north and the indiscriminate use of napalm with thousands of civilian victims would surely be examined by such a tribunal.

Saigon's tiger cages for political prisoners and some high-ranking North Vietnamese are part of the picture. While the victims of the My Lai massacre were not combatants they were mowed down by Americans in uniform. The mass slaughter in the Tet offensive at Huey should be examined.

To believe that such a tribunal could do justice to all the horrors of the war may be naive. But the Biblical injunction, "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone," has a powerful bearing on the aftermath of the longest and bitterest war in America's history.

IN THE not-too-distant past is an example of how to end a war with a minimum of recrimination. In Korea while the United Nations was a useful facade the United States was resisting aggressive communism, supplying by far the bulk of the fighting forces. One of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's great services was to close down that war with as little heritage of hatred as possible.

A patient American negotiator at Panmunjom, Arthur Dean, endured weary months of taunts and insults. What the United States would do if North Korea resumed the fighting was conveyed privately in no uncertain terms. But it was not a matter of public threat, either direct or implied.

Eisenhower was confronted with his own Thieu in stubborn old Syngman Rhee, who repeatedly threatened to go it alone in recovering North Korea. Never made a hero, he was left to the tender mercies of his own people who finally drove him out of the country.

The prescription for unending trouble in Southeast Asia can be read between the lines of the President's pronouncements. The bombing continues in shattered Cambodia, with a deep division over the President's powers to keep it up now that the last American has left.

The Eisenhower example should be persuasive in this larger torment.

Slate dinner speakers

COLUMBUS (AP) — Two principal speakers at the Ohio Democratic Party's $100-a-plate state dinner May 12 at the state fairgrounds will be Boston Mayor Kevin White and New Orleans Mayor Moon Landrieu.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, April 11, the 101st day of 1973. There are 264 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1814, Napoleon Bonaparte abdicted as emperor of France.

On this date:

In 1689, William and Mary were crowned king and queen of England.

In 1713, Spain ceded Gibraltar to England.

In 1899, the Philippine Islands were transferred from Spain to the United States.

In 1921, a telephone line between the United States and Cuba was opened by President Warren G. Harding.

In 1951, President Harry S. Truman relieved Gen. Douglas MacArthur of his command in the Far East.

In 1961, France said it would no longer contribute men or money to U.N. military enterprises.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Navy said it had abandoned hope for the nuclear submarine Thresher, which disappeared in the Atlantic off Cape Cod. The death toll was put at 129.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Daughter, 30, wants to know 'Who's my dad?'

DEAR ABBY: I am 30 years old and reasonably well adjusted although I grew up without a father.

My mother told me that a few months after she married my father he was killed in the war. It didn't take too much intelligence to figure out that if my father had really been killed in the war he would have been considered a hero in the eyes of his widow, and she'd have kept his memory alive with pictures, letters and souvenirs to be shared with his family. It also seemed strange to me that I had never met one relative on my father's side.

I have concluded that I am illegitimate. Believe me, I love my mother and I am not judging her regardless of what the facts were, but I would like to know who my father was. Should I ask my mother?

CURIOUS DAUGHTER

DEAR CURIOUS: You say you "love" your mother, and I'm sure you do. For 30 years you've given her no reason to suspect that you doubted her explanation. Leave it that way, dear.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 14-year-old daughter who is so boy crazy she worries me sick. All she thinks about is boys. She's got boys' names written all over her books. And every piece of paper by the telephone is marked up with initials and boys' names.

When the doorbell rings she runs like lightning to talk to any delivery boy it happens to be.

What really bothers me is she lies. I don't allow her to go in cars with boys so she walks to a girl's house and the boys meet her with a car there. I found this out by reading her diary. I asked her for the truth and she lied to cover up her lies. How can I get the truth out of her?

MRS. G.

DEAR MRS. G.: The only reason children lie is because they haven't the courage to tell the truth. Give your daughter that courage by assuring her that no matter what she has done you will understand and forgive her. Perhaps your threats are too frightening and your punishment too severe. Give your child plenty of love and expect the best, and you'll rarely be disappointed.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old single woman. I am reasonably happy and normal in every respect, and believe it or not, I am not desperate to get married. Nobody can believe this.

I have several relatives who are determined to find a husband for me. They have given my telephone number to dozens of men, from 25 years old to 60! I've been called by widowers, bachelors, and men who have been married from one to five times! I have dated any number of these strangers and have found them to be boring, presumptuous, arrogant, immature, and in general, a waste of time.

When a friend suggests a blind date, I ask the friend to invite both of us to a party so we can meet. But with relatives giving my phone number to every Tom, Dick, and Harry, I am on the spot unless I say, "I'm going with someone," and I hate to lie.

So, what can I do about these well-meaning relatives?

NOT THAT DESPERATE

DEAR NOT: Treat them as friends, and ask them to invite you and the man they had in mind to a party. Or if a strange calls who sounds interesting, make a coffee date with him. That way you won't have to invest in a lot of time on a pig in a poke, and he won't invest a lot of money on a gamble.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "S" IN ROSEBURG, ORE.: Tell your "ex" that the key to your home does not go with visitation privileges to see the children, so please return the key. And if he doesn't, have your locks changed.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personaly reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, LA. Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Japan is Norway's biggest customer for cheese, buying 7,600 tons of the country's 19,000 tons of export cheese in 1971.

Hal Boyle . . . Jumping to conclusions

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Most men can't spell mayonaisse.

At any one time—except when they are asleep—no more than two out of every ten people are usually free enough from fear, passion, financial troubles or loneliness to be called as sane and normal as they should be. When they are asleep, the number of normal people probably rises to two out of five—on good nights.

If you are over 40 and want to be shocked by how far you have failed physically, simply play a game of hopscotch with a 10-year-old girl.

The cheapest millionaires are those who smoke cigars. They will generously take you to lunch, but when you return to their office for a talk they will fish a big cigar from an expensive box of them on the desk and spend the next hour blowing smoke in your face. Rarely will they hold out the box to you and invite you to have one or a handful. To them the cigars are a kind of symbolic reward which only they deserve. If you need a free cigar, ask a cab driver—not a millionaire.

The reason I haven't taken up yoga, as many of my friends have, is that I figure if God had wanted me to be a pretzel, he would have made me one.

The ordinary adult feels about teenagers pretty much like Gelett Burgess felt about the purple cow—he'd rather see than be one. Speaking of Burgess, here are three more lines from this wry and partly forgotten humorist you may like: "Many people live alone and like it, but most of them live alone and look it." "To be two years a widow exceedeth a college education." "If the Lord would only send something interesting, I wouldn't mind if it was only a plaid pig."

Any girl who sticks a guy for a sirloin steak three times in a row when he takes her out to dinner doesn't deserve marriage anyway.

One out of three people who take up an office collection for any cause doesn't chip in a buck himself. And it isn't because he forgets to.

Guys with white shoes don't wear very well either.

Only Norwalk guarantees fabrics

Norwalk Custom Fabrics are thoroughly tested and guaranteed against:

WEAKNESS—Norwalk fabrics must pass rigid standards of tensile strength to prevent ripping or shredding under constant flexing and stress. "Tender" fabrics are never acceptable.

SEAM SLIPPAGE—All fabric seams are thoroughly tested for thread strength and elasticity to prevent opening at beading or along welts.

SHRINKAGE—Every Norwalk fabric is pre-tested for shrink resistance . . . to protect the original beauty of furniture skirts and cushions.

STRETCH—Excessive stretch results in baggy cushions or wrinkled arms and backs. Norwalk provides only enough stretch to prevent ripping.

ABRASION WEAR—Every Norwalk fabric is subjected to rigorous abrasion tests to assure you of long life, especially on the arms and fronts of cushions.

COLOR TRANSFER—With a tested Norwalk fabric you're protected against color transfer from upholstery to clothes—even when fabric is damp.

COLOR FADE—The continued brightness and beauty of Norwalk fabrics are assured through strict Fadeometer tests, which certify color fastness under ordinary conditions.

PERMANENT SOIL—Three nationally recognized dry cleaning tests guarantee that all Norwalk fabrics can be professionally cleaned again and again.

WARRANTY POLICY

This is your warranty policy that the furniture, registered by the number below, is free from defects in workmanship and material.

All Norwalk upholstery has been thoroughly tested to give consumer satisfaction. If upon inspection at the factory and within two years from date of manufacture, any defects are disclosed and it is found that the furniture received normal use and service, repair of any piece thereof will be made at no cost to the original purchaser except shipping charges to and from Norwalk, Ohio.

Complete recovering of any furniture covered by this warranty, using the same grade of fabric, will be done for 20% of the catalog price within the first 12 months, and 35% of the catalog price after 12 months and before 24 months from date of manufacture.

The terms of this warranty become effective ONLY if the attached coupon, properly filled out, is returned to the factory within 30 days from date of original purchase of the furniture.

Keep this policy with your valuable papers. In making a claim, present this policy to the dealer from whom the furniture was purchased. Any communications to the factory must include the number appearing below and the dealer's name.

Washington C.H. (O.) Record-Herald - Page 8

'Drugs' is topic for Y-Gradale Sorority meet

Sheriff Don Thompson and Maurice Pfeifer, football coach at Washington Senior High School, spoke at the Y-Gradale Sorority meeting held in the home of Mrs. Edward Fisher Monday evening. Their topic was "Drugs" and what parents and teachers can do to help.

Ten guidlines were given by the two speakers: to know where your child is, who he, or she, is with and what he is at all times, educate yourself about drugs and set a good example, demand good drug education in schools, get rid of all medicine in medicine cabinets in the home that are not absolutely necessary, communicate with children as parents, not friend, brothers or sisters, know your child's personal problems, and if he had a drug problem get help, demand toughter penalities for drugs, do not stereotype kids, for long hair does not mean they are bad, stand behind law enforcement and school officials and watch for changes in children's behavior patterns, their grades, health, eating habits and friends.

Sheriff Thompson said that since Fayette County is in the hub of the larger cities, with freeways so close, there is a greater access to the drug problem; but still have lesser problems than some neighboring counties. He said that Fayette County's largest concern in the schools is with alcohol, then drugs. Statistics show that here in Fayette County, at least 75 per cent of the students have at least tried marijuana.

Coach Pfeifer and Sheriff Thompson, both members of the county's Drug Commission Board, pointed out that most arrests are the pushers, but said it is hard to get information for people do not want to "get involved." Coach Pfeifer said that most pills come from medicine cabinets within the homes and that most students carry pills to show that they are with the "in" thing. Most of them don't use the pills unless pressured into it, they explained. They said five tons of marijuana weekly crosses the borders into the U.S. and 52 per cent of college students admit to trying it. Both stated that the drug problems do not lay with arrests and that all parents and teachers should be educated in the drug problems.

Mrs. Jim Kirk wlecomed Mrs. Roger Whitley, a guest. Mrs. Allen Mossbarger gave devotions and Mrs. Carl Wilt reported on the recent card party attended by 68 ladies.

New officers were announced the the coming year: Mrs. Fisher, president; Mrs. William Stoughton, vice president; Mrs. Richard Anthony, secretary; Mrs. Phil Douglas, treasurer; Mrs. Allen Mossbarger and Mrs. Charles Wright, secretaries; Mrs. Don Kirk, state corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Loren Noble, mentor.

The West Jefferson Alpha chapter will be hostesses for the annual spring conference April 29 at the Pickford-Hayes Hotel in Columbus. The Cancer Society invited the group to participate in the annual dessert smorgasbord April 12 in the Mahan Building and a letter from the Welfare Board asking for house parents for boys was read. All members of the sorority will meet at 6:45 p.m. Wednesday to attend service at St. Colman's Catholic Church. The annual mother-daughter banquet was announced for 6:30 p.m. May 14 at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Douglass and Mrs. Richard Rankin served refreshments to the guest speakers and Mrs. Whitley, Mrs. Ned Abbott, Mrs. Robert English, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Jack Hatmacher, Mrs. Wilt, Mrs. William Kearney, Mrs. Don Kirk, Mrs. Jim Kirk, Mrs. Mossbarger, Mrs. John Noble, Mrs. Loren Noble, Mrs. Rober Rapp, Mrs. Will Braun and Mrs. Wright.

Washington Garden Club elects new officers

Mrs. Eugene Cook conducted the meeting of the Washington Garden Club in the home of Mrs. Donald Meredith. Ten members named their favorite tree for roll call. The annual tree planting for Arbor Day activities at Miami Trace High School, April 27, was discussed.

New officers elected to take over the duties in September were Mrs. Dale Merritt, president; Mrs. Walter Wilson, vice president; Mrs. Orville Hurtt, secretary; and Mrs. William Summers, treasurer.

Mrs. Cook announced the spring regional meeting for Thursday at Bellwood Country Club, Morrow, (Warren County).

Mrs. Robert Wilson announced the group had been asked to make table flower arrangements for the annual May Day Breakfast of the Fayette County Nurses Association at Mahan Hall. The group agreed to make them and will meet at 1 p.m. April 30 in the home of Mrs. Wilson.

Two invitations to flower shows, one from Posy Garden Club to attend the show in the Madison Mills United Methodist Church April 26, and the other from the Highland County Garden Club's show, "Seeing is Believing," to be May 24 in Greenfield First United Methodist Church.

A contest to be sponsored by the civic beautification committee, of which Mrs. Martha Reiff is chairman, was discussed.

Special guests for the evening were Donnie Smith and Jeff Smith, sophomores at Washington Senior High School, who are interested in an ecology project of restoring the fountain in the Washington Cemetery. They asked for community support for the project.

Mrs. Jim Hutchinson assisted in the serving of refreshments.

Mrs. Robert Wilson and Mrs. Hurtt won game prizes and Mrs. Ed Hidy won the door prize.

Members will meet at 7 a.m. May 10, at the Summers home in Good Hope, then go to the Rankin cottage at Turkey Ridge for the annual spring bird watch.

Jeff women hold meeting

Following a covered dish luncheon, the Jeffersonville United Methodist women met in the church chapel.

Mrs. Howard Burnett Jr., conducted the meeting at which reports were made by Mrs. Don Dennewitz and Mrs. J.W. Vannorsdall, who announced that half the yearly budget had been paid. Plans were also completed for the mother-daughter banquet to be held April 27 at 6:30 p.m. at the church. The men agreed to serve and wash the dishes.

Mrs. Clyde Rings gave a report on the recent district meeting in Grace United Methodist Church. She also said she is collecting Christmas cards to be sent to the Beverly Mission School in Kentucky.

Mrs. Burnett announced a district meeting for May 19 in Central United Methodist Church, Springfield, from 9:45 a.m. to 3 p.m. Reservations must be made by May 5, she said.

Mrs. John Cummins, program leader, used the topic 'Easter." The Easter story as found in the Books of St. Mark and Luke was told. She also read several Easter poems from "Ideals," including "The Leend of the Easter Flower."

The group voted to have the teachers in the primary department purchase supplies they requested for classes.

Miss Jenkins guest of honor

Miss Mary Ellen Jenkins, bride-elect of Danny Sharrett, was honored at a bridal shower in the Terrace Lounge. Miss Belinda Ramey was the hostess.

Gifts were received from Mrs. Edward Jenkins, Mrs. Lindy Sharrett, Mrs. Kathleen Juilleret, Mrs. Becky Thompson, Mrs. Pat Stethem, Miss Virginia Crawford, Mrs. Sonja Seiler, Miss Kathleen Stookey, Mrs. Cheryl Powell, Mrs. Shirley Boylan, Mrs. Dorothy Courter, Mrs. Marsha Edgington, Mrs. Debby Reed, Miss Karol Clevelle, Mrs. Betty Campbell, Mrs. Sharon Haines, Miss Thelma Runyan, Miss Janet Jenkins, Mrs. Bev McMurray, Mrs. Martha Bush, Miss Ramey, Mrs. Ann Cluff, Mrs. Jean Coulter, Miss Patty Wilson and Mrs. Mary Jean Goolsby.

Use fluted cucumber slices for a garnish. To make, peel a cucumber and run the tines of a fork down the length of the cucumber, all around. Slice thin.

Miss Schorr announces wedding plans

Miss Constance S. Schorr, bride elect of Charles William Link, has made final plans for their marriage at 2:30 p.m. May 19 in Grace United Methodist Church with the Rev. John W. Armentrout officiating. Mrs. Gene Hughes, organist, will present a prelude of nuptial music.

Miss Schorr has asked Miss Rebecca Amstutz, of Kent, a former college roommate, to be her maid of honor. Matron of honor will be her sister, Mrs. Dave (Diane) Hopkins, of Circleville, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Marsha Frazier, of Kent, Mrs. Jerry Roberts, of New Jersey, and Mrs. H. D. Whitaker, of Richmond, Ky.

Amy Brubaker will be the flower girl and Jonathan Brubaker the ring bearer.

H.D. Whitaker Jr., of Richmond, Ky., will serve as best man. Seating the wedding guests will be Michael Eckle, Covington, Ky., Ronald Bach and David Johnson, both of Columbus, and Jerry Roberts, of New Jersey.

Hostesses for the reception in the Country Club following the wedding will be Mrs. Jerry Begin, Mrs. Rob Minshall, Mrs. Gary Green, and the Misses Janice Nelson and Cindy Pine.

Miss Link is the daughter of Mrs. Clifford Dunnagan, 327 N. Hinde St., and the late Paul J. Scorr. Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Link, 603 W. Circle Ave. are the parents of the prospective bridegroom.

'Clock of Time' program theme

Mrs. Edgar McFadden presented the program topic, "The Clock of Time," at the meeting of the Comrades of the Second Mile Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Loren Noble. She used the Book of Ecclesiastes for reference.

Mrs. Gilbert Biddle conducted the meeting and used for her theme "Living." A donation to the two churches in Bloomingburg to purchase lilies for Easter services was approved.

Plans were also completed for the "Round the World Picnic" in June. Recipes from various countries will be distributed to members at the May 8 meeting in the home of Mrs. Willard Bitzer (This is a change of place).

A dessert course was served to 15 members by Mrs. Noble, Mrs. Richard Snyder and Mrs. Bitzer.

Forest Chapter, OES, Inspection attracts 100

One hundred members and guests assembled in Bloomingburg Masonic Temple to observe the annual inspection of Forest Chapter No. 122, Order of the Eastern Star. Mrs. Clarence Malott, of Chillicothe, deputy grand matron of District No. 23, was the inspecting officer for the 73rd annual event in the chapter.

Mrs. Fred Belles and Harold McConnaughey served as worthy matron and worthy patron for the opening and the ceremony of initiation.

Honored guests present for the evening were Miss Marie L. Hamilton, of Circleville, a general Grand Chapter committee member and a past grand matron; Mrs. Malott; Mrs. Dean Powell, of Washington C.H., grand representative of Nova Scotia in Ohio; Mrs. Carl Hooks, of Williamsport, grand representative of Washington in Ohio; Garry McConnaughey, of Dayton, worshipful master of Bloomingburg Lodge No. 449. Fourteen visiting matrons and patrons and 13 past matrons and past patrons of the chapter were in attendance. District No. 23 officers present were Mrs. Malott, president; Mrs. Harold Thompson, of New Holland, vice president; and Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe, of Circleville, state president of the district associations. Several members who held former grand appointments were recognized.

A generous sunshine fund was sent to the Grand Chapter for the fire and safety code, OES Home at Mt. Vernon. Complimentery remarks were made by Miss Hamilton, Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Hooks and Mrs. Malott.

Guests were invited to the dining area where a white covered tea table was prepared with cookies and sandwiches. A crystal punch bowl and silver coffee service also were on the table which was centered with a floral arrangement of roses and tall tapers. Mrs. Harold King served as reception chairman assisted by the past matrons and past patrons of the chapter.

Guests registered from chapters located in Chillicothe, Dayton, Circleville, Bainbridge, Williamsport, New Holland, Washington C.H., Kingston, Adelphi, Frankfort and Jeffersonville.

Officers of the chapter assisting Mrs. Belles and Mrs. McConnaughey were Miss Arita A. Moats, associate matron; W. Harold Moats, associate patron; Mrs. Charles Cunningham, secretary; Mrs. Charles Wallace, treasurer; Mrs. Harold McConnaughey, conductress; Mrs. Clyde Cramer, associate conductress; Mrs. Anna Dorn, chaplain; Mrs. Jesse Schlichter, marshal; Mrs. Mary S. Spangler, organist pro-tem; Mrs. Robert Hawk, Adah; Mrs. Cinda Slager, Ruth; Mrs. Harold Moats, Esther; Miss Anne King, Martha; Mrs. Walter Haines, Electa; Mrs. Roy Smith, Warder and Mr. William McConnaughey, sentinel. Mrs. Donald Denen and Mrs. Gary McConnaughey served as pages and prompters. Registration committee for the evening was composed of Mrs. Laura Hughes, Mrs. Daniel Thompson and Mrs. Harold McConnaughey.

Sunny-East Homemakers elect officers

Mrs. Bernard Huffman and Mrs. Allen O. McClung combined hospitalities Tuesday evening for a meeting of the Sunny-East Belles Homemakers in the former's home.

Mrs. McClung gave devotions and Mrs. Homer Chaney, who conducted the business session, announced that volunteers are needed for the "Meals on Wheels" program.

New officers announced for the coming year are Mrs. McClung, president; Mrs. Dwight Foy, vice president; Mrs. Huffman, secretary; Mrs. Robert W. Fries, treasurer; and Mrs. Sheldon Grubb, crafts.

The nominating committee was composed of Mrs. Clyde Estle, chairman, Mrs. Howard Thompson and Mrs. Chester Clay.

Proposed state park land is purchased

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Natural Resources Director William Nye said Tuesday the first 10 acres of a proposed 14,500-acre state park between Cleveland and Akron have been purchased from Mr. and Mrs. William Vandeveer of Bay Village for $22,000.

Nye said the proposed state park will be combined with Akron and Cleveland metropolitan park districts to provide nearly 20,000 acres of land along the 20-mile valley. He sid the project has no connection with a bicentennial park proposed for the area currently by Gov. John Gilligan.

Lioness Club makes plans for anniversary

An Easter theme prevailed on the tables at the Lioness Club meeting held in the Country Club Tuesday evening. Two new members, Mrs. Michael Riggilo and Mrs. Richard Wintringham were welcomed by Mrs. John Sagar Jr., president, who also conducted the meeting. Mrs. Richard Pfeifer was a guest.

The committee in charge for the evening consisted of Mrs. Gene Sagar, Mrs. Walter Oswald and Mrs. Richard Kimmett.

It was announced that the Lioness Club will sponsor two girls to Buckeye Girls' State in July. They are Miss Mary Jo Thornton, of Miami Trace High School and Miss Cheryl Krieger, of Washington Senior High.

Plans are being made for the 25th anniversary of the group for May 8 at 6:30 p.m. at the Country Club. All charter members and past presidents will be invited, and the present officers will be in charge.

New officers for the coming year are Mrs. Paul Johnson, president; Mrs. Larry Lehman, vice president; Mrs. Ralph Hyer, secretary; Mrs. David Looker, treasurer; Mrs. Dale Dunn, Lioness tamer; Mrs. Bart Mahoney, tail twister; and Mrs. Richard Gillen and Mrs. Charles Pfersick, directors.

Several members were winners of card bingo for the remainder of the evening, and an egg decorating contest was conducted with Mrs. Robert D. Creamer as winner.

Tax evasion case set for sentencing

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—U.S. District Court Judge Don Young ordered a probationary report Tuesday before sentencing Dewitt Campnell of Lima on charges of income tax evasion and conspiracy to violate federal tax laws.

Campnell pleaded no contest to the charges. The Internal Revenue Service said he failed to report income of $18,188 in 1967 and the conspiracy charge stemmed back to 1964.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, APRIL 12

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

New opportunities indicated — some not obvious at first. Keep searching. In the meantime, however, do not neglect regular obligations.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Emphasize teamwork and lend a hand to those who could use it. Don't shunt aside small jobs because you think them unimportant. They could lead to future gains.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

As with Aries, hidden opportunities indicated. Finding and making the best use of them will be a big factor in day's success; will also strengthen future security.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Mixed influences. Some fine advantages possible, but it will be important to watch the budget and not to overcommit yourself to future expenditures.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Solar influences beneficent. Dovetail activities with those of associates. Joint performances, properly planned, will be result-getting.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

You may be able to put over a good deal, conclude a profitable agreement. At least, steps toward this end can be initiated. But don't press: maneuver cautiously.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

It may be advisable to slacken your gait in order to detect error of method or details overlooked. But don't stop dead. Keep working toward ultimate objectives.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Don't head into complications. Steer a clear course and focus ambitions on an attainable plateau. Don't strive for the unreasonable.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Business matters, difficult tasks, long-range planning favored now. But don't rush into things. Have patience, be vigilant and precise.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Competition is still on the move. Get with it and gear yourself to the demands which are appropriate.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Gains from past good efforts indicated, but don't rest on your laurels. There are further goals to reach, so keep on giving your best.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Generous influences on the whole. Both artistry and imagination stimulated. Use both well and results will please.

YOU BORN TODAY are intellectually inclined and have been endowed with a brilliant eloquence which could serve you well in the fields of law, statesmanship, literature or the theater. You are optimistic and self-confident — often TOO hopeful and too speculative. Try to realize reasonable limitations. You are an excellent promoter and can sell anything; sometimes fail to sell yourself, however, because you are overly aggressive. Care!

Say torture aided POW resistance

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Beatings and torture may have helped keep some Americans alive in North Vietnamese prisons, says a top California psychiatrist.

Beatings inspire hate and anger, and those two emotions can give a man the will to live even under the most oppressive conditions, Dr. William E. Mayer said in an interview Monday.

Mayer is the chief deputy director of the state Department of Health. As a U.S. Army doctor, he led a research team that conducted exhaustive medical and intelligence studies on prisoners repatriated from the Korean War 20 years ago.

"There was much more physical brutality in Vietnam than there was in Korea. Ironically, that kind of treatment works in reverse. It encourages anger and hate. The prisoners will organize to fight back," Mayer said.

He said the Chinese who ran the prisoner of war camps in Korea were more sophisticated than the North Vietnamese, using techniques designed to break a man's will and turn prisoners against each other.

"The Chinese told the prisoners in Korea, 'We are your friends. We want to tell you the truth.' After a while, that wears you down. It is much more captivating than to punch you in the nose," he said.

RCA XL-100—100% Solid State Color Television

The Projecta Model ES354 15" diagonal picture

Another first from RCA! Introducing the Projecta, RCA's first model to feature the precision in-line color picture tube developed by RCA and the first XL-100 in a "personal portable" size. In addition to delivering a bright, sharp picture, it is shorter front-to-back than conventional picture tubes, making possible a slim, neat cabinet. And the set has RCA's fiddle-free color tuning. Innovative styling and innovative engineering in a compact package—The Projecta. An optional matching base is available to complete the sculptured, contemporary look.

Plastic cabinet finished in:
Charcoal Bronze/King's Walnut-grain acrylic trim (ES354E)
Fog White/King's Walnut-grain acrylic trim (ES354Y)
H–15", W–21¾", D–16⅛".

RCA's precision in-line picture tube system provides bright, sharp color pictures! Unlike conventional picture tubes, RCA's in-line tube employs vertical phosphor lines instead of phosphor dots. Most important, RCA's is the first picture tube to have its yoke permanently bonded to the tube assembly. This bonding forms a single, compact unit that has factory aligned color registration—no convergence adjustment is ever necessary!

Perma-Chrome shadow mask. As a picture tube warms up, its shadow mask expands. RCA developed the Perma-Chrome shadow mask to compensate for the expansion. You always get excellent color purity no matter how long the set is on.

Instant-Pic ends warm-up wait. Sound and picture come on instantly!

Straight-line picture reproduction circuitry—accurate shapes and proportions at top, bottom and sides.

Picture stabilizer circuits—guard against "tear-out" and "bounce," and remove color from black-and-white telecasts.

• BRIGHTNESS
• CONTRAST • COLOR
• TINT
ACM

AccuMatic IV—RCA's push-button control that automatically brings color, tint, brightness and contrast within a normal, preset range at the touch of a button.

Yet, if desired, you can still adjust these four controls independently to tailor the color to your personal preference.

Forest Shade announces sewing-baking winners

NEW MARTINSBURG — In the sewing and baking contests, which were judged by Mrs. Robert Pero at the Forest Shade Grange meeting Tuesday night, Mrs. Otties Smith placed first, Mrs. Max Carson, second and Mrs. Robert Bock, third, in the sewing contest; in the cushion tops sewing contest, Mrs. Smith took first place and Mrs. Bock, second; and in the baking contest, Mrs. Russell Grice was first, Mrs. Bock and Mrs. Oscar Eckle, tied for second, and Mrs. Maurice Sollars, third.

Worthy Master Winfred Morgan, who conducted the business session, reported on the cleanup of Perry Township roads last Saturday. He said the project was carried out by 15 or 20 men and a few children in groups covering sections of the roads with pickup trucks. All told, the group collected "about a wagon load" of beer cans, bottles and assorted trash. Morgan noted that most of the litter was scattered along the roads, although there were some piles of trash, which obviously had been carried out from homes.

The Grange voted to renew the lease on the community ball park, and Kenneth Arnold reported on the state Grange convention in Columbus last October.

The program of poetry recitations was presented by Junior Grange members under the direction of Mrs. William Garringer, assisted by Miss Kathy Van Dyke. The program consisted of recitations by Bruce Carson; Angie Hatfield, Mary Cockerill and Marilyn Wagner; Lynn Cockerill; an Easter playlet by Christa Foltz, Angie Hatfield and Mary Cockerill and a recitation by Marilyn Wagner.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lee Carson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Eckle, and Mrs. Homer Garringer comprised the refreshment committee.

Sohio pact with dealers condemned

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Standard Oil Co. of Ohio service station lease contract puts the dealer "at great disadvantage," a Cleveland judge said in telling Sohio and Lorain service station operator Daniel Super to end their dispute over holiday operations.

Judge Bernard Friedman of the Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court ordered that Sohio and Super, a service station operator for 16 years, must try to reach an agreement within 30 days.

If they do not, he said, he will bring them back into court and decide the matter himself.

The dispute centered on Sohio's contention that Super violated his contract with Sohio by refusing to open his station on holidays. Super contended it isn't profitable to do so.

The contract expired last Nov. 30.

"To put in a contract that one must work 15 hours a day, work religious and legal holidays, is unfair," Friedman said. He added that the contract leans to the company's favor and that it gives the dealer no choice whether to operate on holidays.

But though Sohio's demand for compliance "appears to be against public policy," the contract's terms are legal, he said. He also said Super is entitled to an agreement.

Health funds paid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— State Welfare Director Charles Bates announced his department paid out $4.4 million in bills to health providers during the first week in Apritlil, about double the amount paid in the first week of March.

Beachwood girl killed

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Lori Bregman, 14, of Beachwood, was killed and four other persons were injured in a two-car crash on Interstate 71, just north of Ohio 314 in Morrow County late Tuesday, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

Sollars owns and operates a Fayette County farm and also is president of the Sollars Brothers Corp., manufacturer of farm equipment.

Plan investigation of Columbus death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— U.S. Atty. William Milligan said either the Justice Department or the local FBI office will investigate a complaint filed Tuesday by the father of a teen-ager who was shot and killed while being frisked by a Columbus policeman.

Delmar Adams contended in his complaint that his son, Paul, 19, was deprived of his right to due process when shot by Patrolman Lewis Workman.

Workman said the gun discharged accidentally, and a police review board agreed that he had not intended to fire the weapon.

Fayette pilots make plans for 'fly-in' and air show

Plans for another fly-in breakfast and after that an air show were discussed at the Fayette County Pilots Association meeting Monday night. No action was taken on either proposal, but both events would be held at the Fayette County Airport.

President Tom Preston was delegated to take up the air show possibility with Norman Crabtree, head of the Ohio Division of Aviation.

The new beacon, which the association had hoped to have in service before this, probably will be in operation within a month. Delay in the installation was blamed on the weather, and the Dayton Power and Light Co. gave assurance that the work of setting up the tower will be started as soon as weather permits.

After reminding that terminal radar service has been installed recently at Port Columbus, Preston and Curt Hiser volunteered to show the pilots how to use the service to best advantage in approaching the airport.

Preston announced that a special meeting will be held May 23 when Bill Straus, of Cincinnati, an accident prevention specialist, will talk to the pilots on aviation safety measures.

New federal aviation regulations, both pending and in effect, were discussed. One makes mandatory a proficiency check for all pilots every two years; it goes into effect in August. Another makes it mandatory for every plane to be equipped with an emergency locater transmitter; it becomes effective in December. President Preston suggested that the pilots send their reactions to the Federal Aviation Agency.

The 13 and the 30 members of the association at the meeting agreed to hold meetings on the 10th of every month instead of the first Monday as in the past.

Shaul may seek Ted Brown's job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— While he has not yet discussed the matter with Gov. John Gilligan, state Commerce Director Dennis Shaul said Tuesday there's a good chance he will seek the Democratic nomination for secretary of state in next year's elections.

"I think it's likely I'm going to run and most likely that I'm going to run for that," said Shaul, a former Akron city councilman.

The office currently is occupied by Ted W. Brown, a Republican.

Seniors of week

By ROBIN BRIGGS

The first featured senior this week is David Brown. He resides with his mother, Mrs. Alice Brown at 323 N. Hinde St.

David's subjects this year include physical education, Communications, Speech Arts, Mechanical Drawing and ROTC. His school activities include Hi-Y and the Art Club. His only hobby is having a good time.

David's comment on being a senior is, "I feel some things are bad this year, and I feel sorry for the underclassmen. I'll be glad to graduate."

Debbie Stebleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stebleton, 1210 Cornell Drive., is the second featured senior.

IN SCHOOL, Debbie is taking American Government, Notehand, Algebra II, English Literature, physical education and band. Her activities include band and Y-Teens. Outside of school Debbie enjoys playing softball and basketball and going horseback riding. She also enjoys watching her neighbor play basketball.

Debbie's comment on her senior year is, "I've had fun this year, but I can't wait to graduate."

The third featured senior this week is Mark Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Allen, 1002 E. Market St.

Mark is enrolled in a college preparatory course this year and he is taking American Government, Advanced Math, English Composition, English Literature, Typing 1, physical education and Mechanical Drawing. His activities include Letterman's Club, of which he is treasurer, Youth in Government, Hi-Y and Student Council.

In his spare time Mark enjoys listening to Grand Funk, playing basketball and having a good time.

Mark's comment on his senior year is, "I've had a lot of fun and I'm really looking forward to this spring and graduation, even though I'll regret seeing everyone go their separate ways. The Class of '73 is a great bunch."

Girls compile statistics for Blue Lion track team

By JILL WILLIS

If you've attended a Washington Senior High School track meet this spring, you're probably wondering who the devout female followers are.

These girls, approximately 40 in number, are the Blue Lion track statisticians. The leader, or head statistician, is Patty Smith.

Patty takes care of getting the results and finding the final score in the meet. Her assistant is Jane Ann Wackman. Under these two are captains for each event.

THEY ARE Dianne Tuvell, discus; Robin Briggs, shot put; Robin Morris, high jump; Ellen Upp, long jump, and Dianne Kimmet, pole vault. Under these captains are a team of five girls. Each is responsible for a certain event in the meet. They write the statistics of the event and, in general, run it. Then they give the results to the head statisticians.

Also, there is a working pool of girls who put signs on the lockers of the track members and are ready to fill the position of any absent track statistician.

The responsibility of the statistician also setting up for the indoor meet, baking cookies for the track team, attending all home meets and supporting the team at away meets.

Seniors winners in annual games

By TERI MOUNT

The annual Gym Night, sponsored by Student Council, was held recently in the WSHS gym.

Excitement filled the gym as many games such as pass the livesaver, tug of war, bear crawl, peanut roll, burlap bag race and, of course, a pie eating contest, were played by the students. Besides getting excited, many people even found hidden talent.

The object of Gym Night is for each class to earn as many points as possible. The class earning the most points is then declared the winner.

This year, after a long battle for first place, the senior class was awarded top honors, the juniors placed second and the sophomores third.

County to share in state funds

Fayette County is to receive $6,702.08 as its share of the April distribution of Local Government money, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson. The money is derived from taking 3.5 per cent of state collections of sales, corporate franchise and personal income taxes on a monthly basis.

Ferguson said a total of $4,525,518.51 was available for distribution in April. This figure is $2.5 million less than was available for March, but still above the January and February distributions of the Local Government Fund monies. The amount available in the current month is based upon the previous month's collections of the three taxes.

March collections amounted to $62,323,738.69 in sales taxes, $36,513,605.29 in corporate franchise taxes and $30,463,985.75 in income taxes, thus making the $4.5 available for distribution to local governments this month, Ferguson said.

In comparison, the auditor said, local governments received $2,973,226.43 in January, $3,628,892.24 in February, and $6,626,828.89 in March.

Local Government Fund distributions to the state's largest counties in April were: Cuyahoga, $940,573.95; Hamilton, $419,379; Franklin, $349,949.23; Montgomery $256,074.98; Lucas, $233,394.95; Summit, $233,188.47; Lorain, $123,885.96; Stark, $113,595.50; Butler, $102,244.60; Mahoning, $101,488.35; Lake, $86,738.12; Trumbull, $67,053.05.

Alcohol, drug abuse program set

The 1973 Teenage Institute an Alcohol and Other Drugs, conducted by the Ohio Department of Health, will be held August 12-16 at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Every summer the Ohio Department of Health sponsors a unique supplementive educational program for Ohio's high school juniors and seniors. This Teenage Institute on Alcohol and Other Drugs may be the most innovative youth program in the United States today.

The institute is truly an open forum available to all the participants for the exchange of ideas, thoughts, perceptions, emotions, attitude and other aspects of conceptual information transfer. The informality negates any structured lectures or preaching and gives youth a chance to be heard and understood.

The facts will be on hand and discussion and debate will be the mode of communication. Experts as well as other students can offer information on the pharmacology, psychology and legality of drugs of abuse. It will be a new and refreshing educational experience stressing not only alcohol and drug abuse information, but the importance of students and their society.

Ohioans linked to Wounded Knee

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — When 30 northwestern Ohio families travelled to Wounded Knee, S.D., six years ago to build a church, they never expected their teepee-type temple to be the site of a 1973 Indian uprising.

One hundred persons, mostly members of the East Foulke Avenue Church of God of Findlay, spent a hot July in 1967 nailing together telephone poles to form the octagonal church which housed negotiations between Indians and government officials at embattled Wounded Knee reservation.

"The uprising came as a kind of surprise to all of us. It is such a small community. From what I read, and knowing the people there, those who are causing this uprising had to come in from some place else," said Earl F. Pruitt, the construction leader.

Phyllis Miles, whose husband and three daughters travelled west for the project, said, "It is a shame they live the way they do. I thought it was unfair things couldn't be done to help them.

"I feel they have been wronged. Something should be done about it," she said.

The missionary project first emerged in 1965 when the congregation looked for a benefit program. Two years later, after Pruitt spent an Easter at the reservation, the Findlay families set out west in a 30-car caravan.

The Ohioans put up the teepee-like church with little Indian help.

"The adults were very apprehensive," said Pruitt, "At night they would look at the progress, but they wouldn't actually get involved. We just didn't get to communicate with that many."

"It seemed they were so disinterested in life. Maybe this uprising will start them thinking more. Maybe they thought it was such a big task, there was no way to get any improvements," said Shirley Dewey, whose family of three were among the church-builders.

Pruitt says, "I have mixed emotions about the whole thing. The Indians needed a little spunk, but I'm not in favor of militancy.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — How do you thank the Red Cross for its help during disasters? Three college students did it in two brief films that will start appearing on television stations around the country in May.

The films—one runs 30 seconds, the other a minute—are public service announcements that local Red Cross chapters will give television stations in the ntion's top 50 markets.

They summarize how the Red Cross works during disasters and how it helped during last June's massive floods in the East that killed 134 persons.

The young filmmakers are radio-television students at Ithaca College in upstate New York. They are Harvey Zvansky, 22, the producer-writer; Bruce Levine, 21, the photographer; and Esther Grey, 20, the production assistant.

For Miss Grey, the work was more than an exercise in film-making. Her family, which lives in the Pennsylvania community of Kingston near Wilkes-Barre, was hit hard by the June floods; their home sustained heavy water damage.

Members of the Grey family appear in both films.

Zvansky, a senior from Port Washington, N.Y., said the idea for the project came while he and Miss Grey were helping her family dig out after the flood.

"It was pretty bad then," he recalled. "There was no water, no electricity, no heat, no nothing. All there was was the Red Cross running around with bottled water and sandwiches.

"But what the Red Cross people were doing was really appreciated. And it occurred to us, since we're film majors, why don't we make them a spot? It'd be a nice way to say thanks," Zvansky said.

National forests have few fires

BEDFORD, Ind. (AP)—An abundance of late winter and early spring rains, coupled with unseasonably warm weather during March, is credited with keeping the 160,000-acre Hoosier National Forest almost totally free from fires so far this year.

The rains have kept cured vegetation damp and the fire danger very low, and the warm weather greatly advanced spring development of ground vegetation, said A. Claude Ferguson, staff assistant in charge of fire control in the Southern Indiana forest.

"The greenup of ground vegetation is still running about three weeks ahead of schedule," he said. He added that four or five days of warm weather would further advance spring growth to bring the fire season to an end.

April is normally the worst month for spring field and forest fires, Ferguson said, "but we're almost out of normal April conditions at this time. We can stand some light frosts without changing conditions and it would take a hard freeze to reverse the situation."

Since Jan. 1 there has been only one fire in the Brownstown Ranger District, and it burned over only one acre of ground. In the Tell City District there have been no fires reported.

In the Wayne National Forest in Ohio, which is administered from the Bedford office of the U.S. Forest Service, there have been 11 fires with 31 acres burned over since Jan. 1, Ferguson said.

"Oddly enough," he said, "the Daniel Boone National Forest in eastern Kentucky is having a normal spring fire season with airplane water bombs and smoke jumpers pressed into action on several occasions."

He said the Kentucky situation is different because of this year's weather pattern. Weather fronts with their waves of precipitation have left a gap in the Kentucky forest where rainfall so far this year is five inches below normal.

Ferguson said an important effect of the low fire danger in Indiana is the saving of thousands of dollars budgeted for fire detection and control which can be used for other forest operations.

'Poll Bowl' eyed in college football

NEW YORK (AP) — College football has buried the idea of a post-season playoff series, but the NCAA television committee now favors a "Poll Bowl" to settle the national championship.

The suggestion of a head-to-head January football showdown is expected to be presented April 26-28 at the executive committee meetings of the National Collegiate Athletic Association in Kansas City.

Our TV committee likes it," said Tom Hansen, assistant administrator of the NCAA. "It would be strictly a one-game deal to be played after the regular bowls.

IF NCAA executives approve, a mass vote of member institutions would still be required to decide whether to add this bit of icing to college football's post-season cake.

"This would be approached as a national championship game and not as a gimmick for TV," Hansen said. "Of course, the TV people are most interested. I can tell by the way they pant over the phone."

The plan would be to match the two highest-rated major college teams as of January 2, scheduling the Poll Bowl at a time when it might steal some of the pre-game thunder of pro football's Super Bowl.

No one has decided how the 1-2 schools will be determined, but a television official said he would favor using The Associated Press poll that is taken after the regular bowls are played.

That would've meant Southern California, 12-0, would have been matched against Oklahoma, 11-1, last Januray following their victories in established bowl games.

"Many institutions feel a kinship to the established bowls and their communities," Hansen said. "They want to see them continue. The national championship game would just be an extra."

Conferences such as the Southeastern and Big Eight have generally opposed any playoff series, due in part to the millions of dollars their teams have bankrolled from bowl games.

MOST EDUCATORS have been found to be against a long playoff series since student-athletes would be taken from the classroom during what is an examination period for many colleges.

The Poll Bowl is the alternative.

"The earliest possible national championship game would be after the 1974 season," Hansen said.

ABC-TV has owned the NCAA football contract for several seasons and is heading into the second half of a two-year contract worth $27 million to the colleges.

Roone Arledge, president of ABC Sports, said the network would be overjoyed at the idea of a Poll Bowl although the game would significantly increase cost of TV rights if included in the overall package.

Golden State grabs 3-2 lead over Bucks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Milwaukee General Manager Wayne Embry had the right idea when he tried to have Game 5 of the Bucks' National Basketball Association playoff series postponed.

Forced to play the game in Madison, Wis., after being evicted from their home court by a realtors show, the Bucks asked for the delay when a snowstorm prevented them from reaching their impromptu home for a workout.

Golden State beat the snow into Madison and held a two-hour practice. It must have helped, because the Warriors knocked off the Bucks 100-97 Tuesday night to take a 3-2 lead in their best-of-7 quarterfinal.

In the only other NBA game played Tuesday night, Los Angeles defeated Chicago 123-102 to take a 3-2 lead in that best-of-7 series.

There were no American Basketball Association playoff games scheduled Tuesday night.

Embry's request for the postponement was rejected by Golden State General Manager Bob Feerick and that decision was upheld by the NBA when Embry pursued his request with the league office.

Forced to play the game, the Bucks wound up wishing they hadn't. Rick Barry sank a layup and two free throws with 1:14 left to play, shutting off a Milwaukee comeback and helping the Warriors to the victory. Clyde Lee had 21 points and 16 rebounds for Golden State.

The Bucks, down by as many as 18 points, fought back to take the lead with just over two minutes left. But Mahdi Abdul Rahman's layup restored Golden State's edge and then Barry's layup made it 98-95. Jon McGlocklin cut the lead to a single point with one minute left but Kareem Abdul-Jabbar missed a hook shot in the final 20 seconds. Lee grabbed the rebound and Barry's two foul shots settled the issue.

Golden State can finish the series with a victory at home Friday night. Los Angeles gets the same chance in Chicago the same night.

The Lakers ripped the Bulls with Jerry West contributing 36 points.

Chicago had wiped out an 18-point LA lead and held an 81-80 edge with 2:40 left in the third period. Then Keith Erickson hit for the Lakers and West strung seven straight points for an 89-93 lead that increased the rest of the way.

Wilt Chamberlain had 21 points and 29 rebounds for the Lakers.

In tonight's pro basketball action, Boston and Atlanta, tied at 2-2, play Game 5 of their NBA quarterfinal and Kentucky meets Carolina in the opening game of their ABA semifinal.

Bob Knight to speak at MT cage banquet

Bobby Knight, who directed Indiana's Hoosiers to their first undisputed Big Ten basketball championship since 1958, will be the principal speaker at the annual Miami Trace basketball banquet April 30.

Members of head coach Jan Stauffer's prized 16-7 Miami Trace team which rebounded from a dismal 5-6 start to win a South Central Ohio League co-title, the Rio Grande Class AAA sectional crown, plus the Southeastern District title before being sidelined by highly-touted Columbus East at the regional level, will be honored at the banquet.

TICKETS FOR the booster club-sponsored banquet can be purchased from Stauffer at the high school, at the high school office or from any booster club member. The tickets are priced at $2.50 per person.

Knight, a former Ohio State cage star, was a clear-cut winner in a poll of 40 Midwestern sportswriters and broadcasters for Big Ten Coach of the Year honors.

Indiana finished with an 11-3 Big Ten record, 22-6 overall and placed third in the NCAA tournament after losing to UCLA. The Hoosiers were ranked sixth in the final Associated Press national basketball poll.

Knight, 32, in his second season at Indiana, successfully gambled with a youth experiment as he blended freshmen Quinn Buckner and Jim Crews and sophomore Steve Green with veterans Steve Downing and John Ritter for a winning combination.

He came to Indiana from Army where his basketball teams had a 102-50 record.

Tickets for the 6:30 p.m. banquet can also be purchased at the Washington Paint and Glass Co., 125 N. Fayette St., according to Stauffer.

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — A 7-1 longshot paid $16.20, $6.80 and $3.80 and the daily double returned $257.50 at Lebanon Raceway Tuesday night.

Pollys Pride, driven by Ralph Satterthwaite, posted a one-length victory in the feature race to upset the odds.

Cavaliers make progress, but Fitch not yet content

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Cavaliers have made steady progress in their three years in the National Basketball Association, but Coach Bill Fitch still isn't content.

"The nucleus is there," says Fitch, "but we have to make a few changes."

Fitch said he is pleased with the Cavs' steady progression from 15 to 23 and on to 32 victories, but he would like to "pick up another nine" next year to hit the .500 mark.

"That's because, if you're playing .500 ball in this league with 10 games to go in the season, anything can happen," he said. "You can make the playoffs."

Fitch said the road to being a contender "hasn't been an easy one" and "gets harder" as you get better.

"Three years ago, when we started with an expansion team, we came up with the slogan 'Never Surrender No Matter What the Odds,'" said Fitch.

"That's been typical of everyone who's put on a Cavaliers uniform," he said. "But now I think we're going to add another slogan—'We've come a long way, baby!'"

The Cavs came on strong after Jan. 1, splitting their final 44 games and winning seven of their last 11.

Fitch said those 11 contests enabled him to evaluate the club and decide what needed to be done to lift the team into playoff status.

The Cleveland coach credited a lot of the team's success to guard Lanny Wilkens, who was acquired in an off-season trade and joined the club six games into the season.

"I've never known a truer, more loyal player," said Fitch. "He's dedicated to winning. I can't thihk of anyone else I'd rather have control the ball in the closing minutes of a game."

Expos perform comedy act

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"There's nothing funny about losing."—Gene Mauch, April 10, 1973.

Perhaps not, but Mauch's Montreal Expos, the San Diego Padres, the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Texas Rangers were sights to behold Tuesday night.

In classic displays of baseball futility, the Expos lost to the Philadelphia Phillies 7-5, the Padres were crushed by the San Francisco Giants 11-2, the Dodgers bowed to the Houston Astros 4-3 in 12 innings and the Rangers were mauled by the Kansas City Royals 12-1. In a relatively well-played contest, the California Angels beat the Minnesota Twins 4-2.

Six other games were postponed by a combination of snow and cold weather—Oakland at Chicago, Baltimore at Detroit and Boston at Milwaukee in the American League and Chicago at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Atlanta and New York at St. Louis in the National.

The Expos pulled their comedy act in the third inning when the Phillies scored four runs, three of them unearned.

It started innocently enough with walks to Mike Ryan and Denny Doyle and Steve Carlton's run-scoring single. But when center fielder Jorge Roque threw the ball past third base, Doyle also scored and Carlton reached second.

He didn't stop there, continuing on to third when catcher John Boccabella let third baseman Bob Bailey's throw get through for another error. Carlton stayed put on Larry Bowa's infield hit but scored when Bailey fielded Cesar Tovar's grounder and fired wildly to the plate. Deron Johnson's sacrifice fly completed the riotous inning and Willie Montanez put the game out of reach with a two-run homer in the fifth.

San Diego's pitching was funny enough in the first inning when the Giants used Ed Goodson's bases-loaded triple and Juan Marichal's two-run double to score six times. The fielders got into the act in the second— the Giants added a run on shortstop Enzo Hernandez' throwing error—and the rest of the infield brought the house down in the seventh.

With two runners aboard via singles, first baseman Nate Colbert, second baseman Dave Roberts and third baseman Dave Hilton booted successive ground balls for a couple of runs and Bobby Bonds followed with a two-run single.

In a manner reminiscent of their old Brooklyn days, the Dodgers ran into three outs on the basepaths and finally lost to Houston when rookie relief pitcher Jim Crawford drilled a two-out double off ex-Astro George Culver in his first time at bat in the major leagues to score John Edwards from first base.

The Rangers' mound staff helped dedicate Kansas City's new $43 million stadium by pitching batting practice for the Royals, including a two-run homer and two-run single by John Mayberry, doubles by Amos Otis, Fred Patek, Cookie Rojas and Keith Marshall and a triple by Otis.

The Angels and Twins stuck to baseball. Bill Singer, making his AL debut, scattered six hits and fanned 10 while Bobby Valentine hit a two-run single. Nothing much in the way of humor there.

Voyageurs and Swords win hockey clashes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nova Scotia and Cincinnati made a clean sweep of their quarter final American Hockey League playoffs although the Rhode Island Reds and the Richmond Robins made a valiant effort to prolong the agony.

The Voyageurs had to come from behind twice Tuesday night to cap their series over the Reds on a sudden death overtime goal by Yvon Lambert. The Swords also battled back twice to defeat the Robins in overtime on a fluke goal that caromed off Doug Rombough and into the net.

In the only other Calder Cup action, Hershey defeated the Virginia Red Wings in overtime 5-4 to take a 2-1 advantage in their series.

Three pin tourneys booked at Bowland

Three bowling tournaments, including the youth district qualifier and the popular 400-500 event, are scheduled at Bowland Lanes.

Tony Capuana, proprietor at Bowland Lanes, said the All-American Youth district qualifier for graduating seniors in Southeastern Ohio, will be starting at noon Saturday.

The 400 and 500 tournaments for men and women who have rolled those exact series this year will open at 1 p.m. Sunday. There is a $3 entry fee and Capuana said 31 women and 69 men are eligible to participate.

THE ANNUAL Champion of Champions tourney will be beginning soon, Capuana said.

The district qualifier for graduating seniors has attracted 30 entries including several Miami Trace and Washington C. H. seniors. They will bowl six games Saturday in three divisions, 170 and over scratch and 169 and under handicap for the boys and a handicap division for the girls.

Three winners from here will advance to the state finals at Southland Lanes in Marion May 12. Three state winners will receive an all-expense paid trip to Washington D. C. for the national finals in July. The national winners will be competing for $30-$40,000 in scholarships.

John Wedgewood, a Miami Trace teacher, will be the tournament director here Saturday.

Teams finishing in the upper half of each league are eligible to compete in the Champion of Champions tourney, sponsored by the Souther Ohio Bowling Proprietors Association. The elimination deadline is May 14. There is a $25 entry fee here.

One of every four entries here will receive a paid $55 fee into the regional elimination May 19-20. The men will roll their regional at Shawnee Lanes, Chillicothe, and the women at Abee Lanes in McConnellsville. The state tourney is set for July 7 at Cleveland.

Walton not on hardship draft list

NEW YORK (AP) — There was almost as much interest in the names that were missing as there was in those that showed up on the National Basketball Association's list of hardship cases eligible for next Monday's draft.

Absent from the list were junior Bill Walton of national champion UCLA and sophomore David Thompson of second ranked North Carolina State, both All-America selections. They had been expected to request the hardship status so they could be eligible for this year's draft, but did not.

Granted the status were 11 collegians including William "Bird" Averitt of Pepperdine, the national scoring leader.

Also named on the NBA list released Tuesday were Raymond Lewis of Los Angeles State, the No. 2 scorer in the country, and Dwight Jones of Houston, a member of the United States Olympic team.

Others on the list were Larry Harris of Genessee Community College in Flint, Mich.; Larry Kenon of Memphis State; Arnold Zigmond Mast of Oklahoma City Southwestern Junior College; Larry McNeil of Marquette; Ed Searcy of St. John's, N.Y.; John Lee Williamson of New Mexico State.

ABA's all-star team named

NEW YORK (AP) — Towering Artis Gilmore of Kentucky, Most Valuable Player Billy Cunningham of Carolina and Julius Erving of Virginia head the American Basketball Association 1972-73 All-League team announced today.

Gilmore, the 7-foot-2, 240-pound Colonels' center who led the league in rebounding, two-point field goal percentage and blocked shots for the second straight season, was the top vote collector. He received 55 first-team votes and one for the second team among 58 ballots cast by sports writers and broadcasters. He had a total of 111 points on the basis of two points for a first-team vote and one point for second.

Cunningham, chosen Monday as the ABA's Most Valuable Player in his first season in the league, was named to a first-team forward berth on 50 ballots and a second-team spot on seven for 107 points.

Erving, the spectacular Squires' forward who averaged 31.9 points per game in winning the scoring title in only his second ABA season, finished just behind Cunningham in the voting with 106 points on 49 firstplace votes and eight seconds.

Denver's Warren Jabali, with 87 points, and Utah's Jimmy Jones, with 81, were the firstteam selections at guard.

Chosen to the second team were center Mel Daniels of Indiana, forwards George McGinnis of Indiana and Dan Issel of Kentucky, and guards Ralph Simpson of Denver and Mack Calvin of Carolina.

Many factors push prices higher

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The American way of life, primarily the quest for a cleaner, safe, more secure environment, is contributing inexorably to the problem of rising prices.

Cleaner air, safer cars and more employment security are some of the more positive and desirable factors that can lead to higher prices. But negatives, such as poor workmanship, are equally potent inflators.

Close to 37 million vehicles have been recalled in 6½ years for the correction of safety defects, at least some of which can be attributed to faulty workmanship at the design or assembly stage.

Another negative factor is theft. In a new book, "Security Control: Internal Theft," Bob Curtis, a business and government consultant on retail store theft comments:

"Employe theft is the most critical element in store inventory shortages. It accounts for an estimated 60 to 75 per cent of a store's losses, and nearly a third of all business failures...are brought about by employe theft."

Environmental issues, however, appear to be second only to rising demand itself in pushing up some prices, not just for gasoline, fuel oil and electricity but, it is claimed, for new housing also.

Advance Mortgage Corp., a home mortgage lender, claims that ecological restrictions already are pushing up prices in Washington, D.C., Southern California, the New York suburbs and less pronouncedly in Atlanta and Chicago.

"Paradoxically," says Irving Rose, president, "the ecological restrictions have increased demand. The news that they are in prospect converts future into present buyers. People rush to acquire their piece of Eden before the gates are shut."

Lumber suppliers and critics of U.S. land policy also claim that short supplies could be alleviated somewhat by permitting easier access to reserves on public lands.

Automobile safety standards are criticized as inflationary in this months First National City Bank "Monthly Economic Letter," which suggests that some requirements might be made less rigid and others optional.

It notes that an Office of Science and Technology report estimates the 1975-1976 federal standards could hike the retail price of a car by $350, or twice what industry officials believe would be the cost of less stringent California measures.

An Environmental Protection Agency report to Congress estimates that in 1977, when all federal controls on motor vehicles are scheduled to be effective, the annual costs will be more than $8 billion.

It is not only the demand for quantity that's pushing up prices; the demand for quality is, too.

'Holy Land' Rotary topic

Dr. C. Elton Rhoad picked up his illustrated talk on the Holy Land Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon right where he left off the previous week.

He gave each of the Rotarians three-dimensional glasses, which gave the slides more realism.

As he showed scenes of the Way of the Cross and the streets in Jerusalem which Jesus trod on the way to Calvary and the Crucifixion, the Biblical history was woven into the narration. He said the scenes were re-enacted every Friday in Jerusalem.

He was surprised, he said, when he first saw the tomb of Christ and the stone that the Bible says was rolled away for the Resurrection. He had expected to see a huge boulder; instead he saw a relatively flat stone, something like a millstone, which could be rolled away from the entrance of the tomb.

Other pictures of the Holy Land included the Dead Sea Scrolls, the cave in which they were found and the Jordan River. The Jordan, he said was a disappointment; he had expected to see a large river; instead he saw a stream no larger than a creek.

Dr. William H. Limes was the program chairman and President Fred L. Domenico conducted the meeting.

Student guests were Chris Shaper, of WSHS, and Chris Cummingham, of MTHS. Other guests were Bob Gestrich and Arnold Lilly, of Mead Containers Corp. Visiting Rotarians were Max Whiteside, of London, and Dr. Jack Weinrich, of Greenfield.

BGSU rescinds fee increase

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan's effort to hike aid to state universities by 5 per cent has allowed Bowling Green State University to rescind a recently-announced student fee increase.

University President Hollis Moore said in a statement Tuesday he "applauds Gov. Gilligan and legislative leaders from both parties for this clear indication of their... demonstrated interest in higher education."

Gilligan made his recommendation last week after saying the state income tax was expected to procude $118 million more than earlier estimates. He said the excess could fund more aid to higher education.

The 5 per cent increase in aid would be in addition to Gilligan's original 3 per cent increase in aid.

Hysterectomy Is Safe Operation

I have recently been told that an operation for the removal of my womb is necessary. I am frightened, but more concerned by the stories that abound about the unnecessary surgery that is performed for conditions like mine.

Mrs. K. G., Mass.

Dear Mrs. G.:

Stories about unnecessary surgery always make good copy in newspapers and magazines. Nevertheless the removal of the uterus is a remarkably safe operation. It is to be expected that it would call forth a degree of rightful anxiety. There are many psychological factors involved with this type of surgery that often seem to threaten femininity.

Many studies on the pyschological aftermath of hysterectomy indicate that the well-adjusted woman who is thoroughly prepared for this type of surgery need not react adversely to it.

Many misconceptions about hysterectomy exist in the minds of women. These misconceptions are unrelated to educational background.

It is important for greater emotional security that all aspects of the operation be fully discussed with your doctor. Only in this way can you be liberated from the anxiety associated with this or any other type of surgery.

There are many controls in hospitals that prevent unnecessary surgery. Committees of physicians carefully review the records of all operations. This system acts as a safeguard to the patient.

All tissue removed during surgery is sent to the laboratory for microscopic study. The tissue diagnosis is then carefully compared with the preoperative and surgical diagnosis. These safeguards are maintained for private, clinic, and ward patients.

All surgeons are aware of an undercurrent of concern that patients may not express. They frequently suggest another opinion when patients give such evidence of concern.

Patients can, in a very adult and mature way, ask their doctor for another confirmatory opinion when major surgery is advised.

Weather conditions blamed in five traffic accidents

Snow covered streets and highways were listed as contributing factors in five traffic mishaps investigated by sheriff's deputies Tuesday. There were no injuries in the crashes.

Betty J. McCloud, 21, Bainbridge, was cited for speed excessive for road conditions following a two-car crash on Ohio 41, just south of Rowe-Ging Road at 6:10 a.m.

Officers said she lost control of her northbound car on the slick pavement and traveled left of center into the path of a southbound car driven by Christine Garinger, 36, Rt. 6.

Both cars were extensively damaged.

Other mishaps were:

TUESDAY, 7:30 a.m. — A parked semi-rig owned by Signer Bottle Co., Cincinnati was struck by a hitskip driver while parked on the Royal Castle lot, U.S. 35 and I-71. The rear of the cab was moderately damaged.

TUESDAY, 7:45 a.m. — A car driven by Anna M. Bland, 38, Fairborn, went out of control on U. S. 35 at Ohio 753, and slid off the pavement into a ditch; damage minor.

TUESDAY, 7:50 a.m. — Ronald D. Morrow, 16, New Holland, lost control of his car on Old Springfield Road, just east of U.S. 22, and struck three rods of fence on the Paul Elrod farm; damage moderate.

TUESDAY, 7:50 a.m. — A car driven by Elaine K. Cockerill, 21, Rt. 1, went out of control on U.S. 62, just north of Rowe-Ging Road, and damaged two rods of fence on the Walter Parrett farm; damage moderate.

$130 coat stolen; bicycles recovered

A black leather coat, valued at $130 was stolen from a rack at the Union 76 Plaza restaurant Tuesday. George McNew, Flakes-Ford Road, told sheriff's deputies the coat was taken sometime between 6 and 11 a.m.

Police recovered two bicycles from an alley at the rear of the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home, Tuesday morning. The bicycles were tagged and taken to the city garage for storage until claimed.

Union trustees add maintenance men

Herbert Satterfield was employed fulltime for work on the 25.11 miles of township roads, and Thurman Yates was hired parttime to take care of the cemeteries Tuesday night by the Union Township Board of Trustees.

Satterfield will devote most of his time to mowing roadsides, grading berms and keeping a close check for breaks in paved surfaces.

Yates will take care of the Sugar Creek Baptist Cemetery, U.S. 35-N, and the Sugar Creek Methodist Cemetery, Palmer Rd. These are the only burial grounds in Union Township completely under the jurisdiction of The Trustees.

The trustees, who have made periodic inspections of roads, reported they found they came through the winter in "pretty good shape." However, their inspections disclosed that some of the culvert pipes should be cleared of debris. The cleanout of the culvert pipes is a continuing process.

Routine bills which were approved amounted to less than $600.

Banc group earnings up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— First quarter earnings of $3.2 million, a 17.2 per cent increase over the same period last year, were reported Tuesday by First Banc Group of Ohio, Inc.

Fayette County to share state, federal monies

Fayette County is to receive $25,900 in federal Public Employment Program funds, according to U.S. Rep. William H. Harsha, R-6th Ohio. A total of over $2.1 million was approved for six counties in Ohio's Sixth Congressional District.

The funds will be used to hire unemployed persons for public service jobs and to undertake summer jobs programs for disadvantaged youth.

Other counties in the district to receive funds are: Clermont, $896,300; Scioto, $478,400; Warren, $707,800; Brown, $39,200, and Pike, $29,200.

HARSHA ALSO announced the approval of $2.8 million in federal funds for the education of disadvantaged children in Ohio's Sixth District.

The amounts, by county, available for expenditure are: Adams, $244,875; Brown, $184,135; Clermont, $258,007; Clinton, $167,992; Fayette, $129,961; Highland, $215,599; Pike, $226,406; Pickaway, $141,863; Ross, $338,994; Scioto, $659,930, and Warren, $229,142.

The program serves over 20,000 school age children who are handicapped, delinquent, neglected, from low income families or in foster homes.

Burnett sent to Lima State

Joseph L. Burnett, 27, of 706 High St., has been ordered committed to Lima State Hospital for a term of not more than 60 days for a mental examination.

Burnett was convicted April 3 by a Fayette County Common Pleas Court jury of rape and sodomy.

The mental examination was ordered by Judge Evelyn W. Coffman.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Jacqueline Deskins, 615 Park Dr., has been granted a divorce from W.L. Deskins, on grounds of neglect. The parties entered an agreement for custody and support of a minor child and a division of real and personal property.

JUVENILE TRAFFIC

Jeffrey Lynn Wilson, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wilson of Rt. 5, Washington C.H., was found to be a juvenile traffic offender on a Sheriff's Department charge of operating a motorcycle without a license. The youth was ordered to attend a defensive driving course. The case was continued pending the sale of the motorcycle.

Beth A. Wilson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Wilson of Rt. 2, Greenfield, was found to be a juvenile traffic offender on a charge of speeding. Her operator's license was suspended for 30 days.

South Solon pleads for flasher lights

SOUTH SOLON — A nine-man delegation, headed by Mayor Stanley Marsh, told the Ohio Public Utilities Commission at a formal hearing Tuesday why they feel flasher lights should be installed at the DT&I Railroad crossing on Rt. 323 at the northeast edge of the village.

The commission, after hearing the evidence, took the matter under advisement and said the village would be notified when a decision is reached.

Accompanying the mayor to the hearing were Kent Ozumm, of Grove City, the village attorney; the Rev. Daniel Parker, of South Solon; School Principal Timothy Knisley, County Commissioner Ed Pennington, of Mount Sterling; County School Superintendent J. R. Palmer; Richard Cory and County Engineer Neil Babbs, of London.

Subdivision suit testimony heard

The trial of Gilmore Homes, Inc., vs. the Fayette County Board of Commissioners continued Wednesday in Common Pleas Court.

The suit, filed by Jess Gilmore, seeks a court order to direct the platting of two subdivisions which have twice been rejected by the commissioners.

The proposed subdivisions are located at the intersection of Ohio 4i-N and Inskeep Road.

Newfoundland has no snakes, skunks, poison ivy or hay fever.

Auto emissions deadline extended by Ruckelshaus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Environmental Protection Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus today granted a one-year extension of the 1975 antipollution standards for automobiles, but established interim standards requiring some use of new antipollution devices.

Ruckelshaus set interim standards which, he said, would require the use of "catalytic converters" on all domestic automobiles sold in California in 1975.

A somewhat less strict standard was set for the rest of the nation and Ruckelshaus said it "will likely result in some catalysts used on some models nationwide by 1975."

Ruckelshaus said he believed that the "oxidation catalyst"— the antipollution device on which the U.S. auto industry has been working—could do the job and must be used if the legal requirement for a 90 per cent reduction of auto emissions is to be achieved.

He said the purpose of his interim standards was to "phase in" the use of catalysts.

The 90 per cent emission reduction, originally scheduled for 1975-model cars, now must be achieved by the 1976 models. The present law permits no further extension.

The original standards would have limited hydrocarbon emissions to 0.41 grams per mile compared with the 3.0 grams permitted in 1974.

Instead, Ruckelshaus has now set the 1975 standard at 1.5 grams, exactly half the 1974 level, and he set a separate standard of 0.9 grams per mile for California in 1975.

The original standard for carbon monoxide would have been 3.4 grams per mile in 1975, compared with 28.0 grams in 1974.

The interim standard, instead, will be 15 grams in 1975 nationwide and 9.0 grams in California.

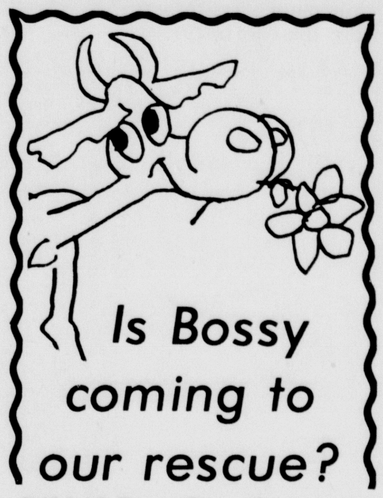
The interim standards are somewhat tougher than those proposed, in general, by auto companies who sought the one-year delay.

In making the announcement, Ruckelshaus said, "this is a terribly complex and important decision that involves the whole mix of our nation's struggle for a cleaner environment.

"Involved are billions of dollars, hundreds of thousands of jobs, the single most important segment of our economy, the largest aggregate man-made contributor to air pollution and the ambivalence of the American public's intensive drive for healthy air and apparently insatiable appetite for fast, efficient, and convenient automobiles."

Ruckelshaus said because of the potential disruption of society involved in attempting to apply the catalyst technology across all car lines in one year, "I believe it is the better part of wisdom to phase in the catalyst."

He said he chose California to begin the use of catalysts because of its serious air pollution problems, its experience with advanced emission controls and its characteristics as a relatively separate and isolated market.



DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — There may be gold in them thar' cow chips.

Chemists say cattle manure can be converted into pipeline gas by mixing the dried manure with hydrogen, which reacts to form methane and ethane, the major constituents of natural gas.

Herman Feldmann of the U.S. Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh told delegates to the 165th national meeting of the American Chemical Society all about it. Only he calls it "hydrogasification of cattle manure to pipeline gas."

Feldmann says the Bureau of Mines is developing technology to convert solid wastes to clean energy processes. He contends that if an economic way of doing this can be found, the solid waste disposal problem could be solved and the clean energy shortage alleviated.

Which brings us back to cattle manure. "An attractive feed stock for a synthetic natural gas plant" is what Feldmann calls it. For example:

—Cattle manure is abundant, and the size and concentration of feed lots simplify its collection in the amounts required for reasonably sized gas plants.

—The manure requires no preparation, apart from partial drying. The cow has taken care of the necessary shredding and grinding.

—The areas with the highest concentration of cattle feed are also areas of high natural gas production — so gas transmission lines are usually available.

—Experiments show that cattle manure is easily converted to a gas having a greater heating value than could be gotten by converting coal or naphtha, a volatile petroleum.

How is it done?

Feldmann says the reaction occurs at around 1,000 degrees and at a pressure of around 1,000 psig — pounds per square inch gauge — thus allowing the gas produced to be injected into gas transmission lines without recompression.

About 40 per cent of the carbon in the manure is converted with the hydrogen. The remaining portion of the carbon is used for the production of hydrogen, so that the only residue remaining after converting the manure to pipeline gas is the sterile inorganic ash.

Toll reaches 30; new flood peril seen

Storm in Northeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An early spring storm that paralyzed parts of the Midwest churned across the Northeast today bringing heavy snow and freezing temperatures.

Freeze or frost warnings were extended from Missouri and Illinois into the Ohio Valley and to the Gulf Coast states. Only Florida was expected to be spared. Birmingham, Ala., reported a record April 10 low of 31 degrees.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for parts of Maine, where five inches already had hit Rumford. Greenville and Houlton had four inches. Several more inches were predicted for today.

Gale-force winds pounded much of the Great Lakes region and the northern New England coast.

In the Midwest, where the winterlike storm struck fiercely Monday and Tuesday, cleanup operations progressed and most snow-clogged highways were opened.

Fair skies prevailed over most of the nation outside the East.

The death count for storm-related incidents totaled 30 for Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Most of the victims were pushing cars, shoveling snow or seeking shelter from the storm when they died.

Moderate temperatures were expected to help the Iowa situation, but just as relief was coming, a new peril arose— flooding streams. The National Weather Service said the Des Moines River, Cedar Creek and the Skunk River all would be over their banks by the weekend.

In Missouri, new concern was expressed about the flooding Mississippi and Missouri rivers. The Corps of Army Engineers was assessing possible effects of the storm and additional snow melt on the St. Louis region. Levees in Illinois and Missouri withstood a strong attack from the pounding of six-foot waves stirred up by winds up to 60 miles per hour Tuesday.

Flooding in Monroe County, Mich., south of Detroit, and the Toledo, Ohio, area were said to be the worst in the past halfcentury. Damage estimates soared into the millions as residents began returning to homes damaged by the storm-tossed waters of Lake Erie.

Meanwhile, a biology professor at Southern Illinois University raised the possibility of a new problem in the flood areas.

Dr. Joel Margalit said standing water left from the floods could produce a bumper crop of disease-carrying mosquitos. He listed encephalitis, a disease characterized by inflamation of the brain, among the viruses potentially threatening the flooded areas.

About seven million acres of land in the Mississippi system were still under water, according to Maj. Gen. Charles C. Noble, president of the Mississippi River Commission. Total damage along the system has been estimated so far at $160 million.

Alternate education plan pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Claiborne Pell today proposed a new federal aid plan for the nation's public schools as an alternative to President Nixon's special revenue sharing for education.

The plan suggested by Pell, chairman of the Senate education subcommittee, includes extension of two major aid programs; per-pupil grants to school districts; property-tax rebates, and incentives to states that equalize expenditures among districts.

Pell said in a prepared Senate speech that the Nixon proposal "is simply a less attractive version of the education revenue-sharing bill we found so unattractive in the last Congress."

The Rhode Island Democrat predicted there would be little support for the new administration measure but promised his panel would give it a fair hearing.

Pell's alternative package would include these features:

—A four-year extension of present major federal aid programs including the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and aid for areas with concentrations of federal employes. But he said these might well be revised as the subcommittee works on the bill.

—A new general aid program of $100 paid to school districts for each child enrolled in a school, plus $25 per child for those whose family income is less than $4,000, roughly the poverty level for a family of four. This would not start until 1976.

—Federal payments of up to 10 per cent of a state's aid-to-education program if the state adopts plans to equalize education expenditures among school districts. This would begin in 1977.

—A new plan of rebates to homeowners and renters for a portion of their local property taxes, beginning in 1976.

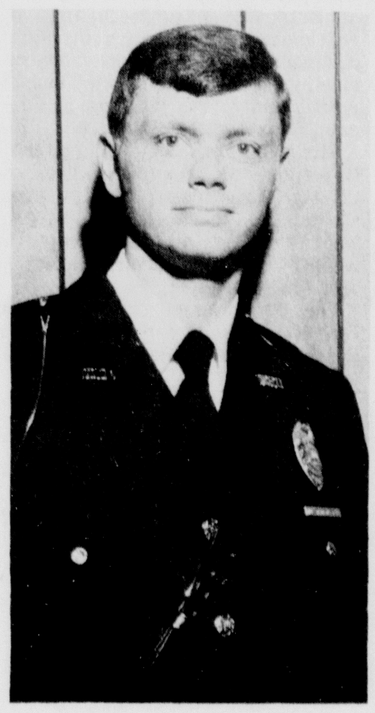
—A sharp reduction in the level of authorizations for federal education programs. The administration has been spending far less than the authorizations.

The rebate on property taxes would work this way:

During the first year of the program, the federal government would rebate to the taxpayer any local property tax that exceeded five per cent of his income. This would apply to a homeowner who paid the tax directly or to a renter who paid it indirectly.

After the first year, states would have to continue the rebates with Washington paying one-third of the cost.

Nixon's special revenue-sharing proposal would fold into block grants to the states several of the present major categorical programs including much of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, the biggest federal aid program.



PTL. STRITENBERGER

City policeman honor grad at Patrol Academy

City Police Patrolman Michael L. Stritenberger has graduated from the Ohio State Patrol Academy with top honors, Police Chief Rodman Scott announces.

Stritenberger, appointed as patrolman in January, was one of the top two graduates of the class, Scott said. He presently is undergoing training in departmental procedures with an experienced officer.

Stritenberger, 25, lives at 1298 Dayton Ave., is married and has one child. He was a dispatcher with the department for a year before his appointment as a patrolman in September.

Scott said the addition of Stritenberger to the force still leaves the department one man short of the 12-man designated strength. The police department is authorized for 15 men but City Council only appropriates money for 12, Scott said.

Chief Scott also announced that Patrolman William Robinson has completed a one-week school covering in-depth accident investigation. The school was held at the Ohio State Patrol Academy in Columbus. Robinson is a six-year veteran of the force.

State crime unit planned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill establishing a state crimefighting unit was readied for introduction into the Ohio House today.

Sponsored by Rep. Edward J. Orlett, D-24 Dayton, the bill would create a Department of Crime Prevention and Control.

The Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation and the Peace Officers Training Council, both now under the attorney general, would be transferred to the new department.

The new unit would be authorized to investigate criminal activity and drug related crimes anywhere in the state.

Coffee Break . .

CREEEEAK! . . .

Relatives and friends at the Washington C.H. church wedding were startled, then titillated, as the best man opened the little blue box to produce the ceremonial ring . . . The hinge made a noise, distant but penetrating, which was reminiscent of the introduction to an "Inner Sanctum" episode . . .

Some scientists say that sounds never die . . . Even the thunder of Gettysburg and Jenny Lind's lilting soprano are riding their sound waves somewhere in the firmament . . .

If that be true, the little blue ring box has a good boost toward immortality . . . The father of the bridegroom was so taken by its performance at the church service that he turned it over to the Rotary Club's sergeant-at-arms . . . And that panjandrum put the little blue ring box through its best performance before a turned-up microphone at the club meeting Tuesday . . . Unfortunately, the Rotarian jeweler, who had supplied the ring (and box), has a Gallic sixth sense and had made a hasty exit . . .

As he left the Country Club grounds he must have heard that haunting CREEEEAK . . .

Abortions deductible

Reds build up supplies in south

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Vietnamese sent about 1,000 tons of artillery shells and other ammunition into northern provinces of South Vietnam last week, U.S. intelligence sources report.

Meanwhile, an estimated 700 North Vietnamese trucks were said to have rolled down the Ho Chi Minh supply trail in Laos during the same period.

Most of this materiel also is expected to end up in South Vietnam, the sources said.

Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson spoke Tuesday of a "continuing buildup in the materiel available to the North Vietnamese forces in South Vietnam."

"While this does not in itself point to the likelihood of any major new offensive in the short term," Richardson said, "nevertheless, the process by which this has been going on has been in violation of the cease-fire agreement."

Thus, the North Vietnamese supply shipments have been continuing without letup despite President Nixon's warnings first uttered in March and twice repeated since then.

South Vietnamese military authorities have told American officials the North Vietnamese will have been resupplied and equipped sufficiently to launch major attacks this month in the two vulnerable provinces just below the demilitarized zone.

Regardless of differing estimates as to when a North Vietnamese offensive might come, there is general agreement that Hanoi is preparing for extensive military operations in South Vietnam, where the war was supposed to have ended through the cease-fire Jan. 27.

Reinforcing this belief are intelligence reports of Communist engineer troops improving an important road across the DMZ so trucks can drive directly south through the old U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh, regardless of weather.

Also, U.S. intelligence says the North Vietnamese have extended a motor-fuel pipeline from Laos to South Vietnam's A Shau Valley, a traditional infiltration route. This pipeline will carry gas and oil to North Vietnamese armored vehicles and supply trucks, experts say.

Search continues for drowned man

Diving and dragging operations are still underway at Deer Creek Reservoir as a search for the body of Darrell Wheeler, 20, of Stoutsville, who drowned Sunday when his boat capsized, continues.

The search is being centered about midway in the lake, south of the Ohio 207 boat dock, according to Pickaway County sheriff's deputies. Dragging operations have been under way since Monday morning but to no avail.

Wheeler, and three Circleville residents were in the motor boat when it suddenly flipped over. The three other passengers were pulled from the water minutes after the accident, but Wheeler could not be found.

House backs Nixon's veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says America's consumers and taxpayers will be eventual winners because of veto-sustaining victories in Congress by what he calls his courageous though outnumbered supporters.

The Constitution's demand of a two-thirds majority for a congressional override of a presidential veto enabled Nixon to post a 51-vote victory Tuesday in the year's first test of House willingness to force him to spend money appropriated by Congress.

"Ahead lie further tests which will demand from us the same measure of courage and cooperation," Nixon said after his veto of a $120-million rural water-and sewer-grant bill was sustained.

It was his second veto victory of the year. The Senate last week sustained his rejection of a bill authorizing a $2.6-billion program for rehabilitating the handicapped.

The President thanked those who upheld him on those bills. The House, he said, demonstrated it has courage to take a firm stand in favor of consumers and taxpayers. Congress, he said, should "stay the course with me in keeping a tight rein on the federal budget."

The Senate originally approved the rehabilitation bill 86 to 2 when just a simple majority was needed but Nixon emerged a four-vote victor in the 60-36 veto decision.

Pigskin dressings save girl from death; skin grafts start

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) — Pigskin dressings that have kept nine-year-old Sandra Kimble alive for nearly a month have done their job. Doctors have started making grafts of the youngster's own skin to get her back on her feet.

Sandra, whose nightgown caught fire from an electric heater on March 13, has been receiving daily applications of the skin of pigs under the supervision of Dr. Ben Knecht and physiotherapist Carmen Bossenbrock at Deaconess Hospital. The technique was developed by Dr. Knecht in 1965 at the University of Iowa and pioneered there.

Under the method, pigskin is laid on the burned areas daily after the old skin is washed away. Doctors say it reduces the chance of infection, prevents fluid loss, eases pain and improves the appetite.

Sandra's pigskin dressings, which cost more than $100 a day, came from clean hides of freshly killed swine flown from the Burn Treatment Skin Bank in Phoenix, Ariz.

The hides are treated so as to be sterile, shaved and cut into strips. Rolled over gauze, the pigskin is packaged, sealed and refrigerated.

Sandra needed about two and a half rolls of pigskin every other day. It had to be removed within one to four days or the child's body would have rejected it with violent reaction.

Dr. Knecht, who came to Wenatchee a year ago, says the first 48 hours are crucial in guarding against "burn shock," and that's when the pigskin serves as a savior.

Sandra began receiving grafts of her own skin on various parts of her body on Tuesday.

Ohio GOP solons fight 'railroaded' budget

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio House Democrats say they are determined to get Gov. John Gilligan's $9.8 billion budget bill through the Finance Committee this week over objections of Republicans accusing them of "a railroad job."

Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, started twice-a-day hearings Tuesday and said he will seek to have the measure ready for a committee vote Thursday afternoon.

House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, said he wants the bill called up for a floor vote next week before the legislators take a planned, 10-day Easter recess. The bill now is $118 million more than the original spending authority asked by the governor as a result of revised tax revenue estimates.

In other action Tuesday, the Senate passed 29-2 a measure extending to 18 to 21-year-olds virtually all the legal rights of adulthood except the right to buy liquor and high powered beer.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, sponsored the "age of majority" measure which he said would make Ohio the 33rd state to lower the so-called age of majority since a U.S. Constitutional amendment lowered the voting age to 18.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, offered a labor amendment to include the right to buy alcoholic drinks. His amendment lost on a standing vote—14 to 17—with senators heading off a roll call tally that would have put their votes on the record.

Arguing for his amendment, Meshel told the Senate "it is incongruous that they have the right to vote on a local option, but not the right to buy a six-pack at the neighborhood store they helped put in business."

Aronoff, who sponsored the same measure last year but watched it die in the House because of the liquor provision, said he hopes the legislature will not "get bogged down" over it this year because of the many other "meritorious" provisions it contains. But he added: "I don't think we've heard the last of the liquor issue."

Among other things, the bill would allow Ohioans 18 and over to sue and be sued, enter into contracts, and mary without parental consent.

Voting against the bill, which now goes to the House, were Sens. Richard G. Reichel, R-29 Massillon, and Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland—Van Meter after urging reinstatement of the liquor provision.

Rep. Frederich Young, R-38 Dayton, and other Republicans on the House Finance Committee accused majority Democrats of a "railroad job" on the

DWI case jury unable to agree

A jury of six men and six women was unable to reach a decision in a drunken driving case Tuesday and was declared "hung" by Acting Municipal Court Judge John Bryan.

The jury had heard the case of John D. Roberts, 22, of Columbus, charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol in connection with an auto accident in the 700 block of E. Paint Street Dec. 1. Sgt. Virgil Harris was the arresting officer.

The jury deliberated for nearly two hours before foreman Dale Merritt announced that they had been unable to reach a verdict. Other members of the jury were: Barbara Andrews, Eddie Braden, Thomas W. Harris, Sharon Bowers, Mary Belle Shoup, Charles Osborne, Mary Kelley, Marjorie Hatfield, Vera Palmer, Forrest Rhoads and Barbara Thompson.

Further action in the case is pending.

Goldwater raps Watergate murk

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says Republican candidates will lose all over the country next year and the GOP will be out of the White House in 1976 unless President Nixon acts now to clear up the Watergate case.

Further, the Arizona Republican said in an interview published today by the Christian Science Monitor, the damage done to Nixon's image by the case is drying up financial contributions to the GOP.

Goldwater said that when he urged Nixon to speak out on the situation, he was told by the President, "I've already done something." The senator said he was later told Nixon's staff would testify before a grand jury, "which I don't think is enough."

2 robbery suspects nabbed after running gun battle

SALEM (AP)—Police officers staged a running gun battle with two men in a car speeding along I-76 and Ohio 43, arresting them after they crashed their car and fled on foot before Highway Patrol shotguns, officers reported.

Two men were treated at a Ravenna hospital, where a spokesman said they were in fair condition Tuesday night after the incident.

Neither law officers nor the hospital would identify the men, but a hospital spokesman said they were in their 20s and had said they were from Cleveland.

Two men armed with .38-caliber revolvers bound the owner of Williams Gun Shop in Salem, 57-year-old John Williams, and his wife, their daughter, and a customer, then took guns from the shop, police reported. Williams said nothing else was taken.

The customer, who wasn't identified, had been suspicious when the men came into the shop, Williams said, so had copied a license number.

The Highway Patrol spotted a car with that license and gave chase at the intersection of Ohio 43 and I-76, three miles south of Kent and about 20 miles west of Salem. The men in the car fired at the patrolmen, who returned the shots, the patrol said.

One civilian car was hit, but no one was injured, the officers said. They and a civilian witness said one car was forced off the highway and that the men fired to gain right-of-way from other drivers.

The car crashed into another car on a side rode, police said, and the men fled on foot, stilling shooting at the officers.

A resident whose home was near the police roadblock at that point said police fired a shotgun and one of the men fell to the ground. The other threw his hands up and surrendered, the witness said.

Police said the FBI was investigating.

Merchants review shoplift problem, civic betterment

Shoplifting and the use of Operation Mainstream personnel for improvement projects were the topics discussed at the Wednesday morning meeting of the Downtown Business Association of the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce.

John Thomas, deputy director of Operation Mainstream for Fayette and Clinton counties, was the guest speaker. He reviewed the program which is aimed at taking people off welfare and providing workers for non-profit groups.

The businessmen discussed using Operation Mainstream personnel for improving alleys and sidewalks and for other projects.

Association members discussed hiring security police in an attempt to control shoplifting in the downtown area. A telephone alert system was also discussed.

A meeting of the Washington Downtown Association will be held at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday in the Dayton Power & Light building to discuss parking.

budget bill following Gilligan's call late last week of a $118 million addition to proposed expenditures.

Shoemaker, who sat as a minority member of the committee several terms before Democrats won control of the lower chamber last year, brushed the charge aside. "I can remember a lot of times as a minority member when I rode the same railroad," he said.

Shoemaker named an 11-member subcommittee—with himself as chairman—to draft a substitute bill for presentation to the full committee Thursday afternoon. Anyone wanting to amend the bill will get their opportunity at that time, he said.

In floor action, the House passed and sent to the Senate a measure allowing city councils to give pay raises to police and firemen who obtain additional education. The vote was 81-4.

Another bill winning 86-0 House approval expands the authority of the Ohio Highway Patrol to investigate motor vehicle titling matters.

Besides the age of majority measure, the Senate passed one other bill and sent it to the Houae. That measure, by Meshel and others, exempts food processing operations from licensing if their facilities are not offered for hire.

A new bill introduced in the House would require applicants for real estate salesmen's licenses to receive 30 hours of classroom instruction prior to taking an examination. The measure by Rep. Tom Fries, D-35 Dayton, and other Democrats came in the wake of a controversy surrounding the issuance of a license to former GOP Gov. James Rhodes four days before he left office in 1971.

Rhodes and some of his key aides received both broker's and salesmen's licenses.

Rhodes' counsel has advised Commerce Department investigators looking into the licenses that the former governor successfully completed an oral examination.

New Senate bills received Tuesday would make rape a non-probationable offense, permit ballot printing contracts to be awarded to any bidder in the state rather than within the county, allow common pleas courts to increase court costs to finance computerized legal research services, and exclude bonds for municipal electrical plants and distribution systems from municipal debt limitations.

Senate vote panel slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A resolution naming a select committee to make a recommendation in the disputed election between Sen. Gene Slagle, D-26 Galion, and former Republican Sen. Robin Turner of Marion was to go before the Senate today.

Scheduled to be named to the committee were Sens. Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington; Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton; Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati; Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, and David Headley, D-28 Barberton.

Slagle beat Turner by 152 votes in the November election, but Turner argued that names were improperly rotated on the ballot in Marion County, one of eight counties in the district.

Slagle has argued the evidence proves there was no fraud and that improper rotation of names is not a valid reason to declare the election void in Marion County.

Fruit growers across Ohio headed for orchards today to assess the damage from the latest damage from overnight freezing temperatures.

Overnight lows ranged from 24 degrees at Toledo Express Airport to 30 degrees at Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati.

Last month farmers survived an unseasonably cold spell after temperatures in the upper 60s and 70s prompted trees to bud prematurely.

"We're not a bit optimistic," Bob Davis, Hamilton County agricultural extension agent, reported Tuesday night as he prepared for the freezing weather.

Skies cleared over Ohio today as the storm that brought snow to the state Tuesday moved northeastward out of New England early today. Partly-cloudy skies were forecast for the state today, with lingering snow flurries ending in the northeast.

Highs were expected to range from the upper 30s to low 40s and lows tonight are expected to dip to freezing.

Warmer weather is forecast for the weekend with highs in the 50s Friday and 60s Sunday.

Highs Tuesday were mostly in the 30s, about 15 to 25 degrees below normal for this time of year. Most parts of the state reported traces of snow, although about an inch fell in higher elevations east of Cleveland to Youngstown.

Cleveland reports a total of 70 inches of snow this winter season, more than normal for the period.

Slowly moderating temperatures Friday through Sunday, with a chance of showers about Sunday. Highs Friday from the low 50s north to about 60, warming into the 60s Sunday. Overnight lows in the 30s early Friday and in the 40s early Saturday.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market paused today in its upward thrust, after three straight days of gains. Analysts said the thrust of the market appeared positive.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 0.75 at 959.74. Advancing issues on the New York Stock Exchange led declining issues 611 to 525.

"The market deserves a pullback," said Robert Stovall of Reynolds Securities. "We've had three strong days in a row."

The Dow gained 37.07 points in the three prior sessions as investors reacted to the good first-quarter earnings brought in by some of the larger companies.

On the American Stock Exchange, issues were mixed in quiet trading. The noon price-change index was up .01 at 24.18.

The noon index of some 1,400 common stocks on the NYSE was down 0.12 at 59.61.

Solons get pension plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, declaring there is "room for substantial improvement" in federal laws dealing with private pension plans, today revived 16-month-old administration proposals virtually intact.

In a message to Congress, Nixon added little to his longpending recommendations and rejected two ideas that he had been urged to adopt by organized labor:

—The President said a proposal to provide federal insurance to protect the pensions of workers who now suffer when their employers go out of business or fall upon hard times would entail government regulation "on a scale out of keeping with our free enterprise system."

—He said nothing about union recommendations that workers who change jobs be permitted to carry their pension benefits with them.

Nixon's major proposals were virtually identical to those he espoused in the past.

Perhaps the most important one would provide for some "vesting" of pension rights, meaning that a worker would become legally entitled upon retirement to benefits earned, regardless of whether he quit or was fired before retirement age.

Tape recorder stolen from downtown office

Police investigated the theft of a tape recorded and several tapes from the Office of Dr. Lawrence W. Burris, 239 E. Court St., Wednesday morning.

Dr. Burris told officers the recorder and ape has been removed sometime after 5:30 p.m. Tuesday. Officers could find no sign of forced entry at the office.

Loss was set at $143.

Ohio EPA supporters are heard

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The issue and speakers were much the same, but the atmosphere much improved Tuesday night as Senate hearings got under way on the House-approved women's Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) to the U.S. Constitution.

Everyone got a seat, the accoustics were good, and the testimony less emotional—in sharp contrast to each of four House hearings on the proposal to prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex. About 250— half the size of the House crowds—showed up.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, chairman of the Senate Elections Committee which is hearing the proposal, moved the hearings from the Statehouse to a large hearing room in the State Office Building one block west of the Statehouse.

Two dozen witnesses signed to testify on behalf of the ERA at the long hearing, which started at 7:30 p.m.—a half hour earlier than usual. Aronoff said he will conduct another hearing next Tuesday night for opponents, and that the committee will vote at a later open hearing on whether to recommend approval to the full Senate.

Ohio would be the 31st state to ratify the amendment as the situation now stands.

However, there is substantial opposition in the Senate, which allowed the same proposal to die a year ago. Polls this year have shown supporters face an uphill battle.

Rep. Michael P. Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, the main House sponsor, was the first to testify before the Senate panel. He reiterated that Ohio has been tabbed as "a pivotal state" in the drive to complete ratification this year. He predicted the other seven states needed would fall into line if Ohio acts favorably.

Prof. Ruth Bader Ginsburg of the Columbia University College of Law was the proponents' chief legal witness. She denied claims that the amendment would result in some of the "horrors" envisioned by opponents in Ohio and other states. Among them, she said, were fears of common rest rooms, women being drafted "unless men are drafted," and loss of support from husbands in event of divorce.

The New York professor also discounted claims that discriminations against women can be ended through passage of new laws by the Congress and the states." Only those who have failed to learn the lessons of the past would accept that counsel," she maintained.

OFBF fights House bill on rollback

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Farm Bureau warned Tuesday that the proposed Phase 4 price restrictions could bring higher food prices, greater demands for food and the danger of black markets.

The statement was made in a telegram to Ohio Congressmen announcing the Farm Bureau's opposition to a bill, scheduled to be voted on in the House Thursday. The bill would roll back prices, interest rates and rents to Jan. 10 levels.

Meanwhile, meat prices were returning to normal across Ohio following last week's boycott, but meat suppliers still were operating at less than capacity as some farmers continued to keep their animals off the market.

A federal consumer affairs official said a meat shortage is a real possibility if the Phase 4 guidelines are adopted.

"After all, nobody has yet devised a way to compel a farmer to raise a cow or grow an extra acre of wheat if he doesn't want to," said Betty Bay.

Mrs. Bay, director for state and local programs for the Office of Consumer Affairs, spoke Tuesday at a meeting of the Ohio State University Agriculture Alumni Association.

A spot check of meat sales figures during last week's boycott showed meat profits down 12 to 15 per cent in some major stores, while fish, poultry and dairy sales reached new levels.

While livestock prices in Ohio fluctuated last week, they have remained steady this week.

Mustangs and rangeland

It now appears that the wild mustang, accorded special protection by a federal law enacted in 1971, threatens to overgraze some of the public rangeland on which it roams. This news will doubtless touch off some I-told-you-sos and perhaps even a horse laugh or two among those who opposed the legislation.

The fact is, word that there are more wild mustangs than the government's experts had supposed makes no basic change in the situation. The rate at which these animals were being slaughtered would have all but guaranteed their extinction had the protection law not been passed. There is still need for that law. If it were removed from the books the slaughter would undoubtedly start up again.

The problem now is a different one:preserve the mustangs without allowing their numbers to get out of hand in relationship to the available range. It is a matter of common sense.

The objective should be that envisioned in the 1971 law; that is, protection of an animal which has come to symbolize the free spirit of the American West. This should be balanced against the need for reasonable curbs on the mustang population.

Nixon and the Eisenhower example

WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger's aim is to get the Vietnam War back on Page 40. Only if the bitter passions coming out of that long and terrible conflict can be damped down will it be possible to get congressional approval for reconstructing both South and North Vietnam.

But President Nixon is moving in the opposite direction. His tough combative speech to the nation could have only one result — to stir anew all the intense feeling that raged during the 11 years of the war. Far from healing wounds, the speech was calculated to lacerate those wounds.

For all the President's rhetoric about the small minority opposing his policy the country was deeply divided. Now that the war is ended the only humane and sensible goal is to try to close ranks, with the vision of a nation united. Just the opposite is achieved by a combative speech invoking patriotic pride bordering on jingoism.

The returning prisoners of war are in the middle. These are brave, steadfast men. They endured months and years of bleak imprisonment and now it comes out, with the release of the last prisoner, in many instances torture and humiliation.

In press conferences across the country individual prisoners described the ordeal they underwent. This appears to have been an outpouring orchestrated by the Defense Department. These carefully selected prisoners vented emotions long suppressed in the discipline of prison camp.

THE SHOCKING revelations may have come under less orderly and controlled circumstances. But it would be hard to imagine anything that could so completely turn public opinion against any help not only for North Vietnam but for the South as well. As President Nguyen Van Thieu comes here he will add his full measure of opposition to any assistance for the Communist North. And he is hardly a figure to command congressional and public approval for money to rebuild the shattered South.

Cries are already heard for a war crimes trial that would put the prison camp torturers in the public stocks. That could be the final blow to any hope for the program that Kissinger negotiated in Hanoi. It would keep the cauldron of hatreds boiling.

Why could not an impartial international tirbunal examine the whole issue of atrocities when passions have somewhat cooled? Carpet bombing of the north and the indiscriminate use of napalm with thousands of civilian victims would surely be examined by such a tribunal.

Saigon's tiger cages for political prisoners and some high-ranking North Vietnamese are part of the picture. While the victims of the My Lai massacre were not combatants they were mowed down by Americans in uniform. The mass slaughter in the Tet offensive at Huey should be examined.

To believe that such a tribunal could do justice to all the horrors of the war may be naive. But the Biblical injunction, "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone," has a powerful bearing on the aftermath of the longest and bitterest war in America's history.

IN THE not-too-distant past is an example of how to end a war with a minimum of recrimination. In Korea while the United Nations was a useful facade the United States was resisting aggressive communism, supplying by far the bulk of the fighting forces. One of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's great services was to close down that war with as little heritage of hatred as possible.

A patient American negotiator at Panmunjom, Arthur Dean, endured weary months of taunts and insults. What the United States would do if North Korea resumed the fighting was conveyed privately in no uncertain terms. But it was not a matter of public threat, either direct or implied.

Eisenhower was confronted with his own Thieu in stubborn old Syngman Rhee, who repeatedly threatened to go it alone in recovering North Korea. Never made a hero, he was left to the tender mercies of his own people who finally drove him out of the country.

The prescription for unending trouble in Southeast Asia can be read between the lines of the President's pronouncements. The bombing continues in shattered Cambodia, with a deep division over the President's powers to keep it up now that the last American has left.

The Eisenhower example should be persuasive in this larger torment.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, April 11, the 101st day of 1973. There are 264 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1814, Napoleon Bonaparte abdicted as emperor of France.

On this date:

In 1689, William and Mary were crowned king and queen of England.

In 1713, Spain ceded Gibraltar to England.

In 1899, the Philippine Islands were transferred from Spain to the United States.

In 1921, a telephone line between the United States and Cuba was opened by President Warren G. Harding.

In 1951, President Harry S. Truman relieved Gen. Douglas MacArthur of his command in the Far East.

In 1961, France said it would no longer contribute men or money to U.N. military enterprises.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Navy said it had abandoned hope for the nuclear submarine Thresher, which disappeared in the Atlantic off Cape Cod. The death toll was put at 129.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Daughter, 30, wants to know 'Who's my dad?'

DEAR ABBY: I am 30 years old and reasonably well adjusted although I grew up without a father.

My mother told me that a few months after she married my father he was killed in the war. It didn't take too much intelligence to figure out that if my father had really been killed in the war he would have been considered a hero in the eyes of his widow, and she'd have kept his memory alive with pictures, letters and souvenirs to be shared with his family. It also seemed strange to me that I had never met one relative on my father's side.

I have concluded that I am illegitimate. Believe me, I love my mother and I am not judging her regardless of what the facts were, but I would like to know who my father was. Should I ask my mother?

CURIOUS DAUGHTER

DEAR CURIOUS: You say you "love" your mother, and I'm sure you do. For 30 years you've given her no reason to suspect that you doubted her explanation. Leave it that way, dear.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 14-year-old daughter who is so boy crazy she worries me sick. All she thinks about is boys. She's got boys' names written all over her books. And every piece of paper by the telephone is marked up with initials and boys' names.

When the doorbell rings she runs like lightning to talk to any delivery boy it happens to be.

What really bothers me is she lies. I don't allow her to go in cars with boys so she walks to a girl's house and the boys meet her with a car there. I found this out by reading her diary. I asked her for the truth and she lied to cover up her lies. How can I get the truth out of her?

MRS. G.

DEAR MRS. G.: The only reason children lie is because they haven't the courage to tell the truth. Give your daughter that courage by assuring her that no matter what she has done you will understand and forgive her. Perhaps your threats are too frightening and your punishment too severe. Give your child plenty of love and expect the best, and you'll rarely be disappointed.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old single woman. I am reasonably happy and normal in every respect, and believe it or not, I am not desperate to get married. Nobody can believe this.

I have several relatives who are determined to find a husband for me. They have given my telephone number to dozens of men, from 25 years old to 60! I've been called by widowers, bachelors, and men who have been married from one to five times! I have dated any number of these strangers and have found them to be boring, presumptuous, arrogant, immature, and in general, a waste of time.

When a friend suggests a blind date, I ask the friend to invite both of us to a party so we can meet. But with relatives giving my phone number to every Tom, Dick, and Harry, I am on the spot unless I say, "I'm going with someone," and I hate to lie.

So, what can I do about these well-meaning relatives?

NOT THAT DESPERATE

DEAR NOT: Treat them as friends, and ask them to invite you and the man they had in mind to a party. Or if a strange calls who sounds interesting, make a coffee date with him. That way you won't have to invest in a lot of time on a pig in a poke, and he won't invest a lot of money on a gamble.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "S" IN ROSEBURG, ORE.: Tell your "ex" that the key to your home does not go with visitation privileges to see the children, so please return the key. And if he doesn't, have your locks changed.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personaly reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, LA. Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Most men can't spell mayonaisse.

At any one time—except when they are asleep—no more than two out of every ten people are usually free enough from fear, passion, financial troubles or loneliness to be called as sane and normal as they should be. When they are asleep, the number of normal people probably rises to two out of five—on good nights.

If you are over 40 and want to be shocked by how far you have failed physically, simply play a game of hopscotch with a 10-year-old girl.

The cheapest millionaires are those who smoke cigars. They will generously take you to lunch, but when you return to their office for a talk they will fish a big cigar from an expensive box of them on the desk and spend the next hour blowing smoke in your face. Rarely will they hold out the box to you and invite you to have one or a handful. To them the cigars are a kind of symbolic reward which only they deserve. If you need a free cigar, ask a cab driver—not a millionaire.

The reason I haven't taken up yoga, as many of my friends have, is that I figure if God had wanted me to be a pretzel, he would have made me one.

The ordinary adult feels about teenagers pretty much like Gelett Burgess felt about the purple cow—he'd rather see than be one. Speaking of Burgess, here are three more lines from this wry and partly forgotten humorist you may like: "Many people live alone and like it, but most of them live alone and look it." "To be two years a widow exceedeth a college education." "If the Lord would only send something interesting, I wouldn't mind if it was only a plaid pig."

Any girl who sticks a guy for a sirloin steak three times in a row when he takes her out to dinner doesn't deserve marriage anyway.

Only Norwalk guarantees fabrics

Norwalk Custom Fabrics are thoroughly tested and guaranteed against:

WEAKNESS—Norwalk fabrics must pass rigid standards of tensile strength to prevent ripping or shredding under constant flexing and stress. "Tender" fabrics are never acceptable.

SEAM SLIPPAGE—All fabric seams are thoroughly tested for thread strength and elasticity to prevent opening at beading or along welts.

SHRINKAGE—Every Norwalk fabric is pre-tested for shrink resistance . . . to protect the original beauty of furniture skirts and cushions.

STRETCH—Excessive stretch results in baggy cushions or wrinkled arms and backs. Norwalk provides only enough stretch to prevent ripping.

ABRASION WEAR—Every Norwalk fabric is subjected to rigorous abrasion tests to assure you of long life, especially on the arms and fronts of cushions.

COLOR TRANSFER—With a tested Norwalk fabric you're protected against color transfer from upholstery to clothes—even when fabric is damp.

COLOR FADE—The sunkissed brightness and beauty of Norwalk fabrics are assured through strict Fadeometer tests, which certify color fastness under ordinary conditions.

PERMANENT SOIL—These nationally recognized dry cleaning tests guarantee that all Norwalk fabrics can be professionally cleaned again and again.

WARRANTY POLICY

This is your warranty policy that the furniture, registered by the number below, is free from defects in workmanship and material.

All Norwalk upholstery has been thoroughly tested to give consumer satisfaction. If upon inspection at the factory and within two years from date of manufacture, any defects are disclosed and it is found that the furniture received normal use and service, repair of any piece thereof will be made at no cost to the original purchaser except shipping charges to and from Norwalk, Ohio.

Complete recovering of any furniture covered by this warranty, using the same grade of fabric, will be done for 20% of the catalog price within the first 12 months, and 35% of the catalog price after 12 months and before 24 months from date of manufacture.

The terms of this warranty become effective ONLY if the attached coupon, properly filled out, is returned to the factory within 30 days from date of original purchase of the furniture.

Keep this policy with your valuable papers. In making a claim, present this policy to the dealer from whom the furniture was purchased. Any communications to the factory must include the number appearing below and the dealer's name.

NORWALK FURNITURE CORP.

What does this mean to you? Suppose the fabric wears out on your new sofa or chair - what then? When you're shopping in other stores, ask to see their written fabric warranty. Insist on Norwalk's quality - it costs no more!

'Drugs' is topic for Y-Gradale Sorority meet

Sheriff Don Thompson and Maurice Pfeifer, football coach at Washington Senior High School, spoke at the Y-Gradale Sorority meeting held in the home of Mrs. Edward Fisher Monday evening. Their topic was "Drugs" and what parents and teachers can do to help.

Ten guidlines were given by the two speakers: to know where your child is, who he, or she, is with and what he is at all times, educate yourself about drugs and set a good example, demand good drug education in schools, get rid of all medicine in medicine cabinets in the home that are not absolutely necessary, communicate with children as parents, not friend, brothers or sisters, know your child's personal problems, and if he had a drug problem get help, demand toughter penalities for drugs, do not stereotype kids, for long hair does not mean they are bad, stand behind law enforcement and school officials and watch for changes in children's behavior patterns, their grades, health, eating habits and friends.

Sheriff Thompson said that since Fayette County is in the hub of the larger cities, with freeways so close, there is a greater access to the drug problem; but still have lesser problems than some neighboring counties. He said that Fayette County's largest concern in the schools is with alcohol, then drugs. Statistics show that here in Fayette County, at least 75 per cent of the students have at least tried marijuana.

Coach Pfeifer and Sheriff Thompson, both members of the county's Drug Commission Board, pointed out that most arrests are the pushers, but said it is hard to get information for people do not want to "get involved." Coach Pfeifer said that most pills come from medicine cabinets within the homes and that most students carry pills to show that they are with the "in" thing. Most of them don't use the pills unless pressured into it, they explained. They said five tons of marijuana weekly crosses the borders into the U.S. and 52 per cent of college students admit to trying it. Both stated that the drug problems do not lay with arrests and that all parents and teachers should be educated in the drug problems.

Mrs. Jim Kirk wlecomed Mrs. Roger Whitley, a guest. Mrs. Allen Mossbarger gave devotions and Mrs. Carl Wilt reported on the recent card party attended by 68 ladies.

New officers were announced the the coming year: Mrs. Fisher, president; Mrs. William Stoughton, vice president; Mrs. Richard Anthony, secretary; Mrs. Phil Douglas, treasurer; Mrs. Allen Mossbarger and Mrs. Charles Wright, secretaries; Mrs. Don Kirk, state corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Loren Noble, mentor.

The West Jefferson Alpha chapter will be hostesses for the annual spring conference April 29 at the Pickford-Hayes Hotel in Columbus. The Cancer Society invited the group to participate in the annual dessert smorgasbord April 12 in the Mahan Building and a letter from the Welfare Board asking for house parents for boys was read. All members of the sorority will meet at 6:45 p.m. Wednesday to attend service at St. Colman's Catholic Church. The annual mother-daughter banquet was announced for 6:30 p.m. May 14 at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Douglass and Mrs. Richard Rankin served refreshments to the guest speakers and Mrs. Whitley, Mrs. Ned Abbott, Mrs. Robert English, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Jack Hatmacher, Mrs. Wilt, Mrs. William Kearney, Mrs. Don Kirk, Mrs. Jim Kirk, Mrs. Mossbarger, Mrs. John Noble, Mrs. Loren Noble, Mrs. Rober Rapp, Mrs. Will Braun and Mrs. Wright.

Washington Garden Club elects new officers

Mrs. Eugene Cook conducted the meeting of the Washington Garden Club in the home of Mrs. Donald Meredith. Ten members named their favorite tree for roll call. The annual tree planting for Arbor Day activities at Miami Trace High School, April 27, was discussed.

New officers elected to take over the duties in September were Mrs. Dale Merritt, president; Mrs. Walter Wilson, vice president; Mrs. Orville Hurtt, secretary; and Mrs. William Summers, treasurer.

Mrs. Cook announced the spring regional meeting for Thursday at Bellwood Country Club, Morrow, (Warren County).

Mrs. Robert Wilson announced the group had been asked to make table flower arrangements for the annual May Day Breakfast of the Fayette County Nurses Association at Mahan Hall. The group agreed to make them and will meet at 1 p.m. April 30 in the home of Mrs. Wilson.

Two invitations to flower shows, one from Posy Garden Club to attend the show in the Madison Mills United Methodist Church April 26, and the other from the Highland County Garden Club's show, "Seeing is Believing," to be May 24 in Greenfield First United Methodist Church.

A contest to be sponsored by the civic beautification committee, of which Mrs. Martha Reiff is chairman, was discussed.

Special guests for the evening were Donnie Smith and Jeff Smith, sophomores at Washington Senior High School, who are interested in an ecology project of restoring the fountain in the Washington Cemetery. They asked for community support for the project.

Mrs. Jim Hutchinson assisted in the serving of refreshments.

Mrs. Robert Wilson and Mrs. Hurtt won game prizes and Mrs. Ed Hidy won the door prize.

Members will meet at 7 a.m. May 10, at the Summers home in Good Hope, then go to the Rankin cottage at Turkey Ridge for the annual spring bird watch.

Jeff women hold meeting

Following a covered dish luncheon, the Jeffersonville United Methodist women met in the church chapel.

Mrs. Howard Burnett Jr., conducted the meeting at which reports were made by Mrs. Don Dennewitz and Mrs. J.W. Vannorsdall, who announced that half the yearly budget had been paid. Plans were also completed for the mother-daughter banquet to be held April 27 at 6:30 p.m. at the church. The men agreed to serve and wash the dishes.

Mrs. Clyde Rings gave a report on the recent district meeting in Grace United Methodist Church. She also said she is collecting Christmas cards to be sent to the Beverly Mission School in Kentucky.

Mrs. Burnett announced a district meeting for May 19 in Central United Methodist Church, Springfield, from 9:45 a.m. to 3 p.m. Reservations must be made by May 5, she said.

Mrs. John Cummins, program leader, used the topic 'Easter." The Easter story as found in the Books of St. Mark and Luke was told. She also read several Easter poems from "Ideals," including "The Leend of the Easter Flower."

The group voted to have the teachers in the primary department purchase supplies they requested for classes.

Miss Schorr announces wedding plans

Miss Constance S. Schorr, bride elect of Charles William Link, has made final plans for their marriage at 2:30 p.m. May 19 in Grace United Methodist Church with the Rev. John W. Armentrout officiating. Mrs. Gene Hughes, organist, will present a prelude of nuptial music.

Miss Schorr has asked Miss Rebecca Amstutz, of Kent, a former college roommate, to be her maid of honor. Matron of honor will be her sister, Mrs. Dave (Diane) Hopkins, of Circleville, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Marsha Frazier, of Kent, Mrs. Jerry Roberts, of New Jersey, and Mrs. H. D. Whitaker, of Richmond, Ky.

Amy Brubaker will be the flower girl and Jonathan Brubaker the ring bearer.

H.D. Whitaker Jr., of Richmond, Ky., will serve as best man. Seating the wedding guests will be Michael Eckle, Covington, Ky., Ronald Bach and David Johnson, both of Columbus, and Jerry Roberts, of New Jersey.

Hostesses for the reception in the Country Club following the wedding will be Mrs. Jerry Begin, Mrs. Rob Minshall, Mrs. Gary Green, and the Misses Janice Nelson and Cindy Pine.

Miss Link is the daughter of Mrs. Clifford Dunnagan, 327 N. Hinde St., and the late Paul J. Scorr. Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Link, 603 W. Circle Ave. are the parents of the prospective bridegroom.

'Clock of Time' program theme

Mrs. Edgar McFadden presented the program topic, "The Clock of Time," at the meeting of the Comrades of the Second Mile Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Loren Noble. She used the Book of Ecclesiastes for reference.

Mrs. Gilbert Biddle conducted the meeting and used for her theme "Living." A donation to the two churches in Bloomingburg to purchase lilies for Easter services was approved.

Plans were also completed for the "Round the World Picnic" in June. Recipes from various countries will be distributed to members at the May 8 meeting in the home of Mrs. Willard Bitzer (This is a change of place).

A dessert course was served to 15 members by Mrs. Noble, Mrs. Richard Snyder and Mrs. Bitzer.

Miss Jenkins guest of honor

Gifts were received from Mrs. Edward Jenkins, Mrs. Lindy Sharrett, Mrs. Kathleen Juilleret, Mrs. Becky Thompson, Mrs. Pat Stethem, Miss Virginia Crawford, Mrs. Sonja Seiler, Miss Kathleen Stookev, Mrs. Cheryl Powell, Mrs. Shirley Boylan, Mrs. Dorothy Courter, Mrs. Marsha Edgington, Mrs. Debby Reed, Miss Karol Clevelle, Mrs. Betty Campbell, Mrs. Sharon Haines, Miss Thelma Runyan, Miss Janet Jenkins, Mrs. Bev McMurray, Mrs. Martha Bush, Miss Ramey, Mrs. Ann Cluff, Mrs. Jean Coulter, Miss Patty Wilson and Mrs. Mary Jean Goolsby.

Use fluted cucumber slices for a garnish. To make, peel a cucumber and run the tines of a fork down the length of the cucumber, all around. Slice thin.

Forest Chapter, OES, Inspection attracts 100

One hundred members and guests assembled in Bloomingburg Masonic Temple to observe the annual inspection of Forest Chapter No. 122, Order of the Eastern Star. Mrs. Clarence Malott, of Chillicothe, deputy grand matron of District No. 23, was the inspecting officer for the 73rd annual event in the chapter.

Mrs. Fred Belles and Harold McConnaughey served as worthy matron and worthy patron for the opening and the ceremony of initiation.

Honored guests present for the evening were Miss Marie L. Hamilton, of Circleville, a general Grand Chapter committee member and a past grand matron; Mrs. Malott; Mrs. Dean Powell, of Washington C.H., grand representative of Nova Scotia in Ohio; Mrs. Carl Hooks, of Williamsport, grand representative of Washington in Ohio; Garry McConnaughey, of Dayton, worshipful master of Bloomingburg Lodge No. 449. Fourteen visiting matrons and patrons and 13 past matrons and past patrons of the chapter were in attendance. District No. 23 officers present were Mrs. Malott, president; Mrs. Harold Thompson, of New Holland, vice president; and Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe, of Circleville, state president of the district associations. Several members who held former grand appointments were recognized.

A generous sunshine fund was sent to the Grand Chapter for the fire and safety code, OES Home at Mt. Vernon. Complimentery remarks were made by Miss Hamilton, Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Hooks and Mrs. Malott.

Guests were invited to the dining area where a white covered tea table was prepared with cookies and sandwiches. A crystal punch bowl and silver coffee service also were on the table which was centered with a floral arrangement of roses and tall tapers.

Mrs. Harold King served as reception chairman assisted by the past matrons and past patrons of the chapter.

Officers of the chapter assisting Mrs. Belles and Mrs. McConnaughey were Miss Arita A. Moats, associate matron; W. Harold Moats, associate patron; Mrs. Charles Cunningham, secretary; Mrs. Charles Wallace, treasurer; Mrs. Harold McConnaughey, conductress; Mrs. Clyde Cramer, associate conductress; Mrs. Anna Dorn, chaplain; Mrs. Jesse Schlichter, marshal; Mrs. Mary S. Mrs. Donald Denen and Mrs. Gary McConnaughey served as pages and prompters. Registration committee for the evening was composed of Mrs. Laura Hughes, Mrs. Daniel Thompson and Mrs. Harold McConnaughey.

Sunny-East Homemakers elect officers

Mrs. Bernard Huffman and Mrs. Allen O. McClung combined hospitalities Tuesday evening for a meeting of the Sunny-East Belles Homemakers in the former's home.

Mrs. McClung gave devotions and Mrs. Homer Chaney, who conducted the business session, announced that volunteers are needed for the "Meals on Wheels" program.

New officers announced for the coming year are Mrs. McClung, president; Mrs. Dwight Foy, vice president; Mrs. Huffman, secretary; Mrs. Robert W. Fries, treasurer; and Mrs. Sheldon Grubb, crafts.

The nominating committee was composed of Mrs. Clyde Estle, chairman, Mrs. Howard Thompson and Mrs. Chester Clay.

On May 15 the club will meet at the Wardell Party Home at 6:30 p.m. There will be no meeting of the club in May.

Mrs. Debbie Young, of Franklin, was a guest.

Members present were Mrs. Ronald Burns, Mrs. Foy, Mrs. Chaney, Mrs. Clay, Mrs. Robert Riley, Mrs. Grubb, Mrs. Estle, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Willard Greer, Mrs. Robert Climer, Mrs. Huffman, Mrs. McClung and Mrs. Fries.

Proposed state park land is purchased

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Natural Resources Director William Nye said Tuesday the first 10 acres of a proposed 14,500-acre state park between Cleveland and Akron have been purchased from Mr. and Mrs. William Vandeveer of Bay Village for $22,000.

Nye said the proposed state park will be combined with Akron and Cleveland metropolitan park districts to provide nearly 20,000 acres of land along the 20-mile valley. He sid the project has no connection with a bicentennial park proposed for the area currently by Gov. John Gilligan.

Tax evasion case set for sentencing

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—U.S. District Court Judge Don Young ordered a probationary report Tuesday before sentencing Dewitt Campnell of Lima on charges of income tax evasion and conspiracy to violate federal tax laws.

Campnell pleaded no contest to the charges. The Internal Revenue Service said he failed to report income of $18,188 in 1967 and the conspiracy charge stemmed back to 1964.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, APRIL 12

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

New opportunities indicated — some not obvious at first. Keep searching. In the meantime, however, do not neglect regular obligations.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Emphasize teamwork and lend a hand to those who could use it. Don't shunt aside small jobs because you think them unimportant. They could lead to future gains.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

As with Aries, hidden opportunities indicated. Finding and making the best use of them will be a big factor in day's success; will also strengthen future security.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Mixed influences. Some fine advantages possible, but it will be important to watch the budget and not to overcommit yourself to future expenditures.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Solar influences beneficent. Dovetail activities with those of associates. Joint performances, properly planned, will be result-getting.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

You may be able to put over a good deal, conclude a profitable agreement. At least, steps toward this end can be initiated. But don't press: maneuver cautiously.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

It may be advisable to slacken your gait in order to detect error of method or details overlooked. But don't stop dead. Keep working toward ultimate objectives.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Don't head into complications. Steer a clear course and focus ambitions on an attainable plateau. Don't strive for the unreasonable.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Business matters, difficult tasks, long-range planning favored now. But don't rush into things. Have patience, be vigilant and precise.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Competition is still on the move. Get with it and gear yourself to the demands which are appropriate.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Gains from past good efforts indicated, but don't rest on your laurels. There are further goals to reach, so keep on giving your best.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Generous influences on the whole. Both artistry and imagination stimulated. Use both well and results will please.

YOU BORN TODAY are intellectually inclined and have been endowed with a brilliant eloquence which could serve you well in the fields of law, statesmanship, literature or the theater. You are optimistic and self-confident — often TOO hopeful and too speculative. Try to realize reasonable limitations. You are an excellent promoter and can sell anything; sometimes fail to sell yourself, however, because you are overly aggressive. Care!

Say torture aided POW resistance

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Beatings and torture may have helped keep some Americans alive in North Vietnamese prisons, says a top California psychiatrist.

Beatings inspire hate and anger, and those two emotions can give a man the will to live even under the most oppressive conditions, Dr. William E. Mayer said in an interview Monday.

Mayer is the chief deputy director of the state Department of Health. As a U.S. Army doctor, he led a research team that conducted exhaustive medical and intelligence studies on prisoners repatriated from the Korean War 20 years ago.

"There was much more physical brutality in Vietnam than there was in Korea. Ironically, that kind of treatment works in reverse. It encourages anger and hate. The prisoners will organize to fight back," Mayer said.

He said the Chinese who ran the prisoner of war camps in Korea were more sophisticated than the North Vietnamese, using techniques designed to break a man's will and turn prisoners against each other.

"The Chinese told the prisoners in Korea, 'We are your friends. We want to tell you the truth.' After a while, that wears you down. It is much more captivating than to punch you in the nose," he said.

RCA XL-100—100% Solid State Color Television

The Projecta Model ES354 15" diagonal picture

Another first from RCA! Introducing the Projecta, RCA's first model to feature the precision in-line color picture tube developed by RCA and the first XL-100 in a "personal portable" size. In addition to delivering a bright, sharp picture, it is shorter front-to-back than conventional picture tubes, making possible a slim, neat cabinet. And the set has RCA's fiddle-free color tuning. Innovative styling and innovative engineering in a compact package—The Projecta. An optional matching base is available to complete the sculptured, contemporary look.

Plastic cabinet finished in:
Charcoal Bronze/King's Walnut-grain acrylic trim (ES354E)
Fog White/King's Walnut-grain acrylic trim (ES354Y)
H–15", W–21¾", D–16⅛".

RCA's precision in-line picture tube system provides bright, sharp color pictures! Unlike conventional picture tubes, RCA's in-line tube employs vertical phosphor lines instead of phosphor dots. Most important, RCA's is the first picture tube to have its yoke permanently bonded to the tube assembly. This bonding forms a single, compact unit that has factory aligned color registration—no convergence adjustment is ever necessary!

Perma-Chrome shadow mask. As a picture tube warms up, its shadow mask expands. RCA developed the Perma-Chrome shadow mask to compensate for the expansion. You always get excellent color purity no matter how long the set is on.

Instant-Pic ends warm-up wait. Sound and picture come on instantly!

Straight-line picture reproduction circuitry—accurate shapes and proportions at top, bottom and sides.

Picture stabilizer circuits—guard against "tear-out" and "bounce," and remove color from black-and-white telecasts.

• BRIGHTNESS
• CONTRAST • COLOR
• TINT
ACM

AccuMatic IV—RCA's push-button control that automatically brings color, tint, brightness and contrast within a normal, preset range at the touch of a button.

Yet, if desired, you can still adjust these four controls independently to tailor the color to your personal preference.

Forest Shade announces sewing-baking winners

NEW MARTINSBURG — In the sewing and baking contests, which were judged by Mrs. Robert Pero at the Forest Shade Grange meeting Tuesday night, Mrs. Otties Smith placed first, Mrs. Max Carson, second and Mrs. Robert Bock, third, in the sewing contest; in the cushion tops sewing contest, Mrs. Smith took first place and Mrs. Bock, second; and in the baking contest, Mrs. Russell Grice was first, Mrs. Bock and Mrs. Oscar Eckle, tied for second, and Mrs. Maurice Sollars, third.

Worthy Master Winfred Morgan, who conducted the business session, reported on the cleanup of Perry Township roads last Saturday. He said the project was carried out by 15 or 20 men and a few children in groups covering sections of the roads with pickup trucks. All told, the group collected "about a wagon load" of beer cans, bottles and assorted trash. Morgan noted that most of the litter was scattered along the roads, although there were some piles of trash, which obviously had been carried out from homes.

The Grange voted to renew the lease on the community ball park, and Kenneth Arnold reported on the state Grange convention in Columbus last October.

The program of poetry recitations was presented by Junior Grange members under the direction of Mrs. William Garringer, assisted by Miss Kathy Van Dyke. The program consisted of recitations by Bruce Carson; Angie Hatfield, Mary Cockerill and Marilyn Wagner; Lynn Cockerill; an Easter playlet by Christa Foltz, Angie Hatfield and Mary Cockerill and a recitation by Marilyn Wagner.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lee Carson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Eckle, and Mrs. Homer Garringer comprised the refreshment committee.

Sohio pact with dealers condemned

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Standard Oil Co. of Ohio service station lease contract puts the dealer "at great disadvantage," a Cleveland judge said in telling Sohio and Lorain service station operator Daniel Super to end their dispute over holiday operations.

Judge Bernard Friedman of the Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court ordered that Sohio and Super, a service station operator for 16 years, must try to reach an agreement within 30 days.

If they do not, he said, he will bring them back into court and decide the matter himself.

The dispute centered on Sohio's contention that Super violated his contract with Sohio by refusing to open his station on holidays. Super contended it isn't profitable to do so.

The contract expired last Nov. 30.

"To put in a contract that one must work 15 hours a day, work religious and legal holidays, is unfair," Friedman said. He added that the contract leans to the company's favor and that it gives the dealer no choice whether to operate on holidays.

But though Sohio's demand for compliance "appears to be against public policy," the contract's terms are legal, he said. He also said Super is entitled to an agreement.

Health funds paid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— State Welfare Director Charles Bates announced his department paid out $4.4 million in bills to health providers during the first week in Apritlil, about double the amount paid in the first week of March.

Beachwood girl killed

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Lori Bregman, 14, of Beachwood, was killed and four other persons were injured in a two-car crash on Interstate 71, just north of Ohio 314 in Morrow County late Tuesday, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

The firm is the largest insurer of automobiles in Ohio and fifth largest in the United States. Sollars also is a director of the Nationwide Mutual Fire, Nationwide Life and Nationwide General Insurance Companies and of 13 affiliated companies. He has been a Nationwide director since 1968. Sollars owns and operates a Fayette County farm and also is president of the Sollars Brothers Corp., manufacturer of farm equipment.

Plan investigation of Columbus death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— U.S. Atty. William Milligan said either the Justice Department or the local FBI office will investigate a complaint filed Tuesday by the father of a teen-ager who was shot and killed while being frisked by a Columbus policeman.

Delmar Adams contended in his complaint that his son, Paul, 19, was deprived of his right to due process when shot by Patrolman Lewis Workman.

Workman said the gun discharged accidentally, and a police review board agreed that he had not intended to fire the weapon.

Fayette pilots make plans for 'fly-in' and air show

Plans for another fly-in breakfast and after that an air show were discussed at the Fayette County Pilots Association meeting Monday night. No action was taken on either proposal, but both events would be held at the Fayette County Airport.

President Tom Preston was delegated to take up the air show possibility with Norman Crabtree, head of the Ohio Division of Aviation.

The new beacon, which the association had hoped to have in service before this, probably will be in operation within a month. Delay in the installation was blamed on the weather, and the Dayton Power and Light Co. gave assurance that the work of setting up the tower will be started as soon as weather permits.

After reminding that terminal radar service has been installed recently at Port Columbus, Preston and Curt Hiser volunteered to show the pilots how to use the service to best advantage in approaching the airport.

Preston announced that a special meeting will be held May 23 when Bill Straus, of Cincinnati, an accident prevention specialist, will talk to the pilots on aviation safety measures.

New federal aviation regulations, both pending and in effect, were discussed. One makes mandatory a proficiency check for all pilots every two years; it goes into effect in August. Another makes it mandatory for every plane to be equipped with an emergency locater transmitter; it becomes effective in December. President Preston suggested that the pilots send their reactions to the Federal Aviation Agency.

The 13 and the 30 members of the association at the meeting agreed to hold meetings on the 10th of every month instead of the first Monday as in the past.

Shaul may seek Ted Brown's job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— While he has not yet discussed the matter with Gov. John Gilligan, state Commerce Director Dennis Shaul said Tuesday there's a good chance he will seek the Democratic nomination for secretary of state in next year's elections.

"I think it's likely I'm going to run and most likely that I'm going to run for that," said Shaul, a former Akron city councilman.

The office currently is occupied by Ted W. Brown, a Republican.

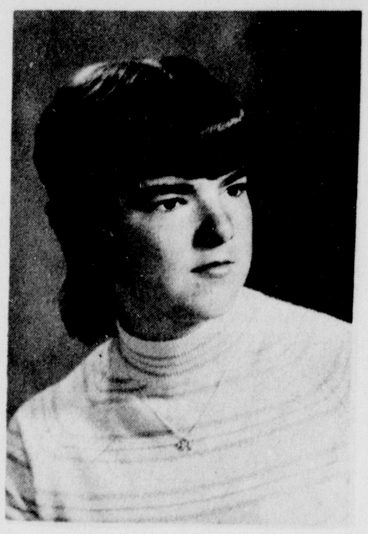
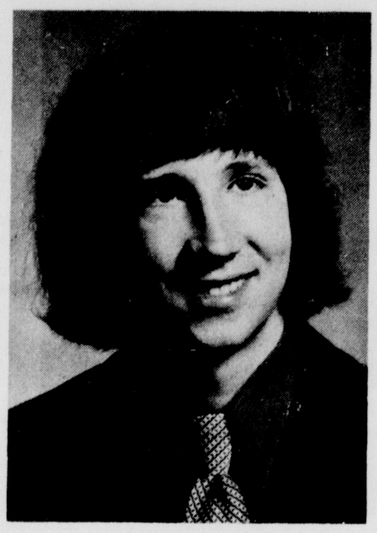
DAVID BROWN



DEBBIE STEBLETON



MARK ALLEN

Seniors of week

By ROBIN BRIGGS

The first featured senior this week is David Brown. He resides with his mother, Mrs. Alice Brown at 323 N. Hinde St.

David's subjects this year include physical education, Communications, Speech Arts, Mechanical Drawing and ROTC. His school activities include Hi-Y and the Art Club. His only hobby is having a good time.

David's comment on being a senior is, "I feel some things are bad this year, and I feel sorry for the underclassmen. I'll be glad to graduate."

Debbie Stebleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stebleton, 1210 Cornell Drive., is the second featured senior.

IN SCHOOL, Debbie is taking American Government, Notehand, Algebra II, English Literature, physical education and band. Her activities include band and Y-Teens. Outside of school Debbie enjoys playing softball and basketball and going horseback riding. She also enjoys watching her neighbor play basketball.

Debbie's comment on her senior year is, "I've had fun this year, but I can't wait to graduate."

The third featured senior this week is Mark Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Allen, 1002 E. Market St.

Mark is enrolled in a college preparatory course this year and he is taking American Government, Advanced Math, English Composition, English Literature, Typing 1, physical education and Mechanical Drawing. His activities include Letterman's Club, of which he is treasurer, Youth in Government, Hi-Y and Student Council.

In his spare time Mark enjoys listening to Grand Funk, playing basketball and having a good time.

Mark's comment on his senior year is, "I've had a lot of fun and I'm really looking forward to this spring and graduation, even though I'll regret seeing everyone go their separate ways. The Class of '73 is a great bunch."

Girls compile statistics for Blue Lion track team

By JILL WILLIS

If you've attended a Washington Senior High School track meet this spring, you're probably wondering who the devout female followers are.

These girls, approximately 40 in number, are the Blue Lion track statisticians. The leader, or head statistician, is Patty Smith.

Patty takes care of getting the results and finding the final score in the meet. Her assistant is Jane Ann Wackman. Under these two are captains for each event.

THEY ARE Dianne Tuvell, discus; Robin Briggs, shot put; Robin Morris, high jump; Ellen Upp, long jump, and Dianne Kimmet, pole vault. Under these captains are a team of five girls. Each is responsible for a certain event in the meet. They write the statistics of the event and, in general, run it. Then they give the results to the head statisticians.

Also, there is a working pool of girls who put signs on the lockers of the track members and are ready to fill the position of any absent track statistician.

The responsibility of the statistician also setting up for the indoor meet, baking cookies for the track team, attending all home meets and supporting the team at away meets.

Seniors winners in annual games

By TERI MOUNT

The annual Gym Night, sponsored by Student Council, was held recently in the WSHS gym.

Excitement filled the gym as many games such as pass the livesaver, tug of war, bear crawl, peanut roll, burlap bag race and, of course, a pie eating contest, were played by the students. Besides getting excited, many people even found hidden talent.

The object of Gym Night is for each class to earn as many points as possible. The class earning the most points is then declared the winner.

This year, after a long battle for first place, the senior class was awarded top honors, the juniors placed second and the sophomores third.

County to share in state funds

Fayette County is to receive $6,702.08 as its share of the April distribution of Local Government money, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson. The money is derived from taking 3.5 per cent of state collections of sales, corporate franchise and personal income taxes on a monthly basis.

Ferguson said a total of $4,525,518.51 was available for distribution in April. This figure is $2.5 million less than was available for March, but still above the January and February distributions of the Local Government Fund monies. The amount available in the current month is based upon the previous month's collections of the three taxes.

March collections amounted to $62,323,738.69 in sales taxes, $36,513,605.29 in corporate franchise taxes and $30,463,985.75 in income taxes, thus making the $4.5 available for distribution to local governments this month, Ferguson said.

In comparison, the auditor said, local governments received $2,973,226.43 in January, $3,628,892.24 in February, and $6,626,828.89 in March.

Local Government Fund distributions to the state's largest counties in April were: Cuyahoga, $940,573.95; Hamilton, $419,379; Franklin, $349,949.23; Montgomery $256,074.98; Lucas, $233,394.95; Summit, $233,188.47; Lorain, $123,885.96; Stark, $113,595.50; Butler, $102,244.60; Mahoning, $101,488.35; Lake, $86,738.12; Trumbull, $67,053.05.

The smog is so bad in Tokyo, Japan, that traffic policemen and pedestrians are forced to stop at streetside oxygen stations to breathe oxygen into their lungs.

Alcohol, drug abuse program set

The 1973 Teenage Institute an Alcohol and Other Drugs, conducted by the Ohio Department of Health, will be held August 12-16 at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Every summer the Ohio Department of Health sponsors a unique supplementive educational program for Ohio's high school juniors and seniors. This Teenage Institute on Alcohol and Other Drugs may be the most innovative youth program in the United States today.

The institute is truly an open forum available to all the participants for the exchange of ideas, thoughts, perceptions, emotions, attitude and other aspects of conceptual information transfer. The informality negates any structured lectures or preaching and gives youth a chance to be heard and understood.

The facts will be on hand and discussion and debate will be the mode of communication. Experts as well as other students can offer information on the pharmacology, psychology and legality of drugs of abuse. It will be a new and refreshing educational experience stressing not only alcohol and drug abuse information, but the importance of students and their society.

Interested? See the high school guidance counselor for further information.

Ohioans linked to Wounded Knee

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — When 30 northwestern Ohio families travelled to Wounded Knee, S.D., six years ago to build a church, they never expected their teepee-type temple to be the site of a 1973 Indian uprising.

One hundred persons, mostly members of the East Foulke Avenue Church of God of Findlay, spent a hot July in 1967 nailing together telephone poles to form the octagonal church which housed negotiations between Indians and government officials at embattled Wounded Knee reservation.

"The uprising came as a kind of surprise to all of us. It is such a small community. From what I read, and knowing the people there, those who are causing this uprising had to come in from some place else," said Earl F. Pruitt, the construction leader.

Phyllis Miles, whose husband and three daughters travelled west for the project, said, "It is a shame they live the way they do. I thought it was unfair things couldn't be done to help them.

"I feel they have been wronged. Something should be done about it," she said.

The missionary project first emerged in 1965 when the congregation looked for a benefit program. Two years later, after Pruitt spent an Easter at the reservation, the Findlay families set out west in a 30-car caravan.

The Ohioans put up the teepee-like church with little Indian help.

"The adults were very apprehensive," said Pruitt, "At night they would look at the progress, but they wouldn't actually get involved. We just didn't get to communicate with that many."

"It seemed they were so disinterested in life. Maybe this uprising will start them thinking more. Maybe they thought it was such a big task, there was no way to get any improvements," said Shirley Dewey, whose family of three were among the church-builders.

Pruitt says, "I have mixed emotions about the whole thing. The Indians needed a little spunk, but I'm not in favor of militancy.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — How do you thank the Red Cross for its help during disasters? Three college students did it in two brief films that will start appearing on television stations around the country in May.

The films—one runs 30 seconds, the other a minute—are public service announcements that local Red Cross chapters will give television stations in the ntion's top 50 markets.

They summarize how the Red Cross works during disasters and how it helped during last June's massive floods in the East that killed 134 persons.

The young filmmakers are radio-television students at Ithaca College in upstate New York. They are Harvey Zvansky, 22, the producer-writer; Bruce Levine, 21, the photographer; and Esther Grey, 20, the production assistant.

For Miss Grey, the work was more than an exercise in film-making. Her family, which lives in the Pennsylvania community of Kingston near Wilkes-Barre, was hit hard by the June floods; their home sustained heavy water damage.

Members of the Grey family appear in both films.

Zvansky, a senior from Port Washington, N.Y., said the idea for the project came while he and Miss Grey were helping her family dig out after the flood.

"It was pretty bad then," he recalled. "There was no water, no electricity, no heat, no nothing. All there was was the Red Cross running around with bottled water and sandwiches.

"But what the Red Cross people were doing was really appreciated. And it occurred to us, since we're film majors, why don't we make them a spot? It'd be a nice way to say thanks," Zvansky said.

National forests have few fires

BEDFORD, Ind. (AP)—An abundance of late winter and early spring rains, coupled with unseasonably warm weather during March, is credited with keeping the 160,000-acre Hoosier National Forest almost totally free from fires so far this year.

The rains have kept cured vegetation damp and the fire danger very low, and the warm weather greatly advanced spring development of ground vegetation, said A. Claude Ferguson, staff assistant in charge of fire control in the Southern Indiana forest.

"The greenup of ground vegetation is still running about three weeks ahead of schedule," he said. He added that four or five days of warm weather would further advance spring growth to bring the fire season to an end.

April is normally the worst month for spring field and forest fires, Ferguson said, "but we're almost out of normal April conditions at this time. We can stand some light frosts without changing conditions and it would take a hard freeze to reverse the situation."

Since Jan. 1 there has been only one fire in the Brownstown Ranger District, and it burned over only one acre of ground. In the Tell City District there have been no fires reported.

In the Wayne National Forest in Ohio, which is administered from the Bedford office of the U.S. Forest Service, there have been 11 fires with 31 acres burned over since Jan. 1, Ferguson said.

"Oddly enough," he said, "the Daniel Boone National Forest in eastern Kentucky is having a normal spring fire season with airplane water bombs and smoke jumpers pressed into action on several occasions."

He said the Kentucky situation is different because of this year's weather pattern. Weather fronts with their waves of precipitation have left a gap in the Kentucky forest where rainfall so far this year is five inches below normal.

Ferguson said an important effect of the low fire danger in Indiana is the saving of thousands of dollars budgeted for fire detection and control which can be used for other forest operations.

'Poll Bowl' eyed in college football

NEW YORK (AP) — College football has buried the idea of a post-season playoff series, but the NCAA television committee now favors a "Poll Bowl" to settle the national championship.

The suggestion of a head-to-head January football showdown is expected to be presented April 26-28 at the executive committee meetings of the National Collegiate Athletic Association in Kansas City.

Our TV committee likes it," said Tom Hansen, assistant administrator of the NCAA. "It would be strictly a one-game deal to be played after the regular bowls.

IF NCAA executives approve, a mass vote of member institutions would still be required to decide whether to add this bit of icing to college football's post-season cake.

"This would be approached as a national championship game and not as a gimmick for TV," Hansen said. "Of course, the TV people are most interested. I can tell by the way they pant over the phone."

The plan would be to match the two highest-rated major college teams as of January 2, scheduling the Poll Bowl at a time when it might steal some of the pre-game thunder of pro football's Super Bowl.

No one has decided how the 1-2 schools will be determined, but a television official said he would favor using The Associated Press poll that is taken after the regular bowls are played.

That would've meant Southern California, 12-0, would have been matched against Oklahoma, 11-1, last Januray following their victories in established bowl games.

"Many institutions feel a kinship to the established bowls and their communities," Hansen said. "They want to see them continue. The national championship game would just be an extra."

Conferences such as the Southeastern and Big Eight have generally opposed any playoff series, due in part to the millions of dollars their teams have bankrolled from bowl games.

MOST EDUCATORS have been found to be against a long playoff series since student-athletes would be taken from the classroom during what is an examination period for many colleges.

The Poll Bowl is the alternative.

"The earliest possible national championship game would be after the 1974 season," Hansen said.

ABC-TV has owned the NCAA football contract for several seasons and is heading into the second half of a two-year contract worth $27 million to the colleges.

Roone Arledge, president of ABC Sports, said the network would be overjoyed at the idea of a Poll Bowl although the game would significantly increase cost of TV rights if included in the overall package.

Golden State grabs 3-2 lead over Bucks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Milwaukee General Manager Wayne Embry had the right idea when he tried to have Game 5 of the Bucks' National Basketball Association playoff series postponed.

Forced to play the game in Madison, Wis., after being evicted from their home court by a realtors show, the Bucks asked for the delay when a snowstorm prevented them from reaching their impromptu home for a workout.

Golden State beat the snow into Madison and held a two-hour practice. It must have helped, because the Warriors knocked off the Bucks 100-97 Tuesday night to take a 3-2 lead in their best-of-7 quarterfinal.

In the only other NBA game played Tuesday night, Los Angeles defeated Chicago 123-102 to take a 3-2 lead in that best-of-7 series.

There were no American Basketball Association playoff games scheduled Tuesday night.

Embry's request for the postponement was rejected by Golden State General Manager Bob Feerick and that decision was upheld by the NBA when Embry pursued his request with the league office.

Forced to play the game, the Bucks wound up wishing they hadn't. Rick Barry sank a layup and two free throws with 1:14 left to play, shutting off a Milwaukee comeback and helping the Warriors to the victory. Clyde Lee had 21 points and 16 rebounds for Golden State.

The Bucks, down by as many as 18 points, fought back to take the lead with just over two minutes left. But Mahdi Abdul Rahman's layup restored Golden State's edge and then Barry's layup made it 98-95. Jon McGlocklin cut the lead to a single point with one minute left but Kareem Abdul-Jabbar missed a hook shot in the final 20 seconds. Lee grabbed the rebound and Barry's two foul shots settled the issue.

Golden State can finish the series with a victory at home Friday night. Los Angeles gets the same chance in Chicago the same night.

The Lakers ripped the Bulls with Jerry West contributing 36 points.

Chicago had wiped out an 18-point LA lead and held an 81-80 edge with 2:40 left in the third period. Then Keith Erickson hit for the Lakers and West strung seven straight points for an 89-93 lead that increased the rest of the way.

Wilt Chamberlain had 21 points and 29 rebounds for the Lakers.

In tonight's pro basketball action, Boston and Atlanta, tied at 2-2, play Game 5 of their NBA quarterfinal and Kentucky meets Carolina in the opening game of their ABA semifinal.

Bob Knight to speak at MT cage banquet

Bobby Knight, who directed Indiana's Hoosiers to their first undisputed Big Ten basketball championship since 1958, will be the principal speaker at the annual Miami Trace basketball banquet April 30.

Members of head coach Jan Stauffer's prized 16-7 Miami Trace team which rebounded from a dismal 5-6 start to win a South Central Ohio League co-title, the Rio Grande Class AAA sectional crown, plus the Southeastern District title before being sidelined by highly-touted Columbus East at the regional level, will be honored at the banquet.

TICKETS FOR the booster club-sponsored banquet can be purchased from Stauffer at the high school, at the high school office or from any booster club member. The tickets are priced at $2.50 per person.

Knight, a former Ohio State cage star, was a clear-cut winner in a poll of 40 Midwestern sportswriters and broadcasters for Big Ten Coach of the Year honors.

Indiana finished with an 11-3 Big Ten record, 22-6 overall and placed third in the NCAA tournament after losing to UCLA. The Hoosiers were ranked sixth in the final Associated Press national basketball poll.

Knight, 32, in his second season at Indiana, successfully gambled with a youth experiment as he blended freshmen Quinn Buckner and Jim Crews and sophomore Steve Green with veterans Steve Downing and John Ritter for a winning combination.

He came to Indiana from Army where his basketball teams had a 102-50 record.

Tickets for the 6:30 p.m. banquet can also be purchased at the Washington Paint and Glass Co., 125 N. Fayette St., according to Stauffer.

Pollys Pride wins

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — A 7-1 longshot paid $16.20, $6.80 and $3.80 and the daily double returned $257.50 at Lebanon Raceway Tuesday night.

Pollys Pride, driven by Ralph Satterthwaite, posted a one-length victory in the feature race to upset the odds.

Summer pin leagues forming at Bowland

Summer bowling leagues are now forming at Bowland Lanes, according to proprietor Tony Capuana.

Capuana said the three leagues will open action in early May and interested persons should register now at Bowland Lanes.

There will be a ladies league on Monday, a three-man team league on Tuesday and a mixed couples loop on Thursday. Capuana said Wednesday will be family night and persons will receive reduced bowling rates.

Expos perform comedy act

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"There's nothing funny about losing."—Gene Mauch, April 10, 1973.

Perhaps not, but Mauch's Montreal Expos, the San Diego Padres, the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Texas Rangers were sights to behold Tuesday night.

In classic displays of baseball futility, the Expos lost to the Philadelphia Phillies 7-5, the Padres were crushed by the San Francisco Giants 11-2, the Dodgers bowed to the Houston Astros 4-3 in 12 innings and the Rangers were mauled by the Kansas City Royals 12-1. In a relatively well-played contest, the California Angels beat the Minnesota Twins 4-2.

Six other games were postponed by a combination of snow and cold weather—Oakland at Chicago, Baltimore at Detroit and Boston at Milwaukee in the American League and Chicago at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Atlanta and New York at St. Louis in the National.

The Expos pulled their comedy act in the third inning when the Phillies scored four runs, three of them unearned.

It started innocently enough with walks to Mike Ryan and Denny Doyle and Steve Carlton's run-scoring single. But when center fielder Jorge Roque threw the ball past third base, Doyle also scored and Carlton reached second.

He didn't stop there, continuing on to third when catcher John Boccabella let third baseman Bob Bailey's throw get through for another error. Carlton stayed put on Larry Bowa's infield hit but scored when Bailey fielded Cesar Tovar's grounder and fired wildly to the plate. Deron Johnson's sacrifice fly completed the riotous inning and Willie Montanez put the game out of reach with a two-run homer in the fifth.

San Diego's pitching was funny enough in the first inning when the Giants used Ed Goodson's bases-loaded triple and Juan Marichal's two-run double to score six times. The fielders got into the act in the second— the Giants added a run on shortstop Enzo Hernandez' throwing error—and the rest of the infield brought the house down in the seventh.

With two runners aboard via singles, first baseman Nate Colbert, second baseman Dave Roberts and third baseman Dave Hilton booted successive ground balls for a couple of runs and Bobby Bonds followed with a two-run single.

In a manner reminiscent of their old Brooklyn days, the Dodgers ran into three outs on the basepaths and finally lost to Houston when rookie relief pitcher Jim Crawford drilled a two-out double off ex-Astro George Culver in his first time at bat in the major leagues to score John Edwards from first base.

The Rangers' mound staff helped dedicate Kansas City's new $43 million stadium by pitching batting practice for the Royals, including a two-run homer and two-run single by John Mayberry, doubles by Amos Otis, Fred Patek, Cookie Rojas and Keith Marshall and a triple by Otis.

The Angels and Twins stuck to baseball. Bill Singer, making his AL debut, scattered six hits and fanned 10 while Bobby Valentine hit a two-run single. Nothing much in the way of humor there.

Three pin tourneys booked at Bowland

Three bowling tournaments, including the youth district qualifier and the popular 400-500 event, are scheduled at Bowland Lanes.

Tony Capuana, proprietor at Bowland Lanes, said the All-American Youth district qualifier for graduating seniors in Southeastern Ohio, will be starting at noon Saturday.

The 400 and 500 tournaments for men and women who have rolled those exact series this year will open at 1 p.m. Sunday. There is a $3 entry fee and Capuana said 31 women and 69 men are eligible to participate.

THE ANNUAL Champion of Champions tourney will be beginning soon, Capuana said.

The district qualifier for graduating seniors has attracted 30 entries including several Miami Trace and Washington C. H. seniors. They will bowl six games Saturday in three divisions, 170 and over scratch and 169 and under handicap for the boys and a handicap division for the girls.

Three winners from here will advance to the state finals at Southland Lanes in Marion May 12. Three state winners will receive an all-expense paid trip to Washington D. C. for the national finals in July. The national winners will be competing for $30-$40,000 in scholarships.

John Wedgewood, a Miami Trace teacher, will be the tournament director here Saturday.

Teams finishing in the upper half of each league are eligible to compete in the Champion of Champions tourney, sponsored by the Souther Ohio Bowling Proprietors Association. The elimination deadline is May 14. There is a $25 entry fee here.

One of every four entries here will receive a paid $55 fee into the regional elimination May 19-20. The men will roll their regional at Shawnee Lanes, Chillicothe, and the women at Abee Lanes in McConnellsville. The state tourney is set for July 7 at Cleveland.

Cavaliers make progress, but Fitch not yet content

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Cavaliers have made steady progress in their three years in the National Basketball Association, but Coach Bill Fitch still isn't content.

"The nucleus is there," says Fitch, "but we have to make a few changes."

Fitch said he is pleased with the Cavs' steady progression from 15 to 23 and on to 32 victories, but he would like to "pick up another nine" next year to hit the .500 mark.

"That's because, if you're playing .500 ball in this league with 10 games to go in the season, anything can happen," he said. "You can make the playoffs."

Fitch said the road to being a contender "hasn't been an easy one" and "gets harder" as you get better.

"Three years ago, when we started with an expansion team, we came up with the slogan 'Never Surrender No Matter What the Odds,'" said Fitch.

"That's been typical of everyone who's put on a Cavaliers uniform," he said. "But now I think we're going to add another slogan—'We've come a long way, baby!'"

The Cavs came on strong after Jan. 1, splitting their final 44 games and winning seven of their last 11.

Fitch said those 11 contests enabled him to evaluate the club and decide what needed to be done to lift the team into playoff status.

The Cleveland coach credited a lot of the team's success to guard Lanny Wilkens, who was acquired in an off-season trade and joined the club six games into the season.

"I've never known a truer, more loyal player," said Fitch. "He's dedicated to winning. I can't thihk of anyone else I'd rather have control the ball in the closing minutes of a game."

Walton not on hardship draft list

NEW YORK (AP) — There was almost as much interest in the names that were missing as there was in those that showed up on the National Basketball Association's list of hardship cases eligible for next Monday's draft.

Absent from the list were junior Bill Walton of national champion UCLA and sophomore David Thompson of second ranked North Carolina State, both All-America selections. They had been expected to request the hardship status so they could be eligible for this year's draft, but did not.

Granted the status were 11 collegians including William "Bird" Averitt of Pepperdine, the national scoring leader.

Also named on the NBA list released Tuesday were Raymond Lewis of Los Angeles State, the No. 2 scorer in the country, and Dwight Jones of Houston, a member of the United States Olympic team.

Others on the list were Larry Harris of Genessee Community College in Flint, Mich.; Larry Kenon of Memphis State; Arnold Zigmond Mast of Oklahoma City Southwestern Junior College; Larry McNeil of Marquette; Ed Searcy of St. John's, N.Y.; John Lee Williamson of New Mexico State.

ABA's all-star team named

NEW YORK (AP) — Towering Artis Gilmore of Kentucky, Most Valuable Player Billy Cunningham of Carolina and Julius Erving of Virginia head the American Basketball Association 1972-73 All-League team announced today.

Gilmore, the 7-foot-2, 240-pound Colonels' center who led the league in rebounding, two-point field goal percentage and blocked shots for the second straight season, was the top vote collector. He received 55 first-team votes and one for the second team among 58 ballots cast by sports writers and broadcasters. He had a total of 111 points on the basis of two points for a first-team vote and one point for second.

Cunningham, chosen Monday as the ABA's Most Valuable Player in his first season in the league, was named to a first-team forward berth on 50 ballots and a second-team spot on seven for 107 points.

Erving, the spectacular Squires' forward who averaged 31.9 points per game in winning the scoring title in only his second ABA season, finished just behind Cunningham in the voting with 106 points on 49 firstplace votes and eight seconds.

Denver's Warren Jabali, with 87 points, and Utah's Jimmy Jones, with 81, were the firstteam selections at guard.

Chosen to the second team were center Mel Daniels of Indiana, forwards George McGinnis of Indiana and Dan Issel of Kentucky, and guards Ralph Simpson of Denver and Mack Calvin of Carolina.

Others receiving votes were centers Zelmo Beaty of Utah and Billy Paultz of New York, forwards Willie Wisen of Utah, Joe Caldwell of Carolina and Rich Jones of Dallas, and guards Ron Boone of Utah, George Thompson and Johnny Neumann of Memphis, Louie Dampier of Kentucky, Chuck Williams of San Diego and Bill Melchionni of New York.

Voyageurs and Swords win hockey clashes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nova Scotia and Cincinnati made a clean sweep of their quarter final American Hockey League playoffs although the Rhode Island Reds and the Richmond Robins made a valiant effort to prolong the agony.

The Voyageurs had to come from behind twice Tuesday night to cap their series over the Reds on a sudden death overtime goal by Yvon Lambert. The Swords also battled back twice to defeat the Robins in overtime on a fluke goal that caromed off Doug Rombough and into the net.

In the only other Calder Cup action, Hershey defeated the Virginia Red Wings in overtime 5-4 to take a 2-1 advantage in their series.

Many factors push prices higher

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The American way of life, primarily the quest for a cleaner, safe, more secure environment, is contributing inexorably to the problem of rising prices.

Cleaner air, safer cars and more employment security are some of the more positive and desirable factors that can lead to higher prices. But negatives, such as poor workmanship, are equally potent inflators.

Close to 37 million vehicles have been recalled in 6½ years for the correction of safety defects, at least some of which can be attributed to faulty workmanship at the design or assembly stage.

Another negative factor is theft. In a new book, "Security Control: Internal Theft," Bob Curtis, a business and government consultant on retail store theft comments:

"Employe theft is the most critical element in store inventory shortages. It accounts for an estimated 60 to 75 per cent of a store's losses, and nearly a third of all business failures...are brought about by employe theft."

Environmental issues, however, appear to be second only to rising demand itself in pushing up some prices, not just for gasoline, fuel oil and electricity but, it is claimed, for new housing also.

Advance Mortgage Corp., a home mortgage lender, claims that ecological restrictions already are pushing up prices in Washington, D.C., Southern California, the New York suburbs and less pronouncedly in Atlanta and Chicago.

"Paradoxically," says Irving Rose, president, "the ecological restrictions have increased demand. The news that they are in prospect converts future into present buyers. People rush to acquire their piece of Eden before the gates are shut."

Lumber suppliers and critics of U.S. land policy also claim that short supplies could be alleviated somewhat by permitting easier access to reserves on public lands.

Automobile safety standards are criticized as inflationary in this months First National City Bank "Monthly Economic Letter," which suggests that some requirements might be made less rigid and others optional.

It notes that an Office of Science and Technology report estimates the 1975-1976 federal standards could hike the retail price of a car by $350, or twice what industry officials believe would be the cost of less stringent California measures.

An Environmental Protection Agency report to Congress estimates that in 1977, when all federal controls on motor vehicles are scheduled to be effective, the annual costs will be more than $8 billion.

It is not only the demand for quantity that's pushing up prices; the demand for quality is, too.

'Holy Land' Rotary topic

Dr. C. Elton Rhoad picked up his illustrated talk on the Holy Land Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon right where he left off the previous week.

He gave each of the Rotarians three-dimensional glasses, which gave the slides more realism.

As he showed scenes of the Way of the Cross and the streets in Jerusalem which Jesus trod on the way to Calvary and the Crucifixion, the Biblical history was woven into the narration. He said the scenes were re-enacted every Friday in Jerusalem.

He was surprised, he said, when he first saw the tomb of Christ and the stone that the Bible says was rolled away for the Resurrection. He had expected to see a huge boulder; instead he saw a relatively flat stone, something like a millstone, which could be rolled away from the entrance of the tomb.

Other pictures of the Holy Land included the Dead Sea Scrolls, the cave in which they were found and the Jordan River. The Jordan, he said was a disappointment; he had expected to see a large river; instead he saw a stream no larger than a creek.

Dr. William H. Limes was the program chairman and President Fred L. Domenico conducted the meeting.

Student guests were Chris Shaper, of WSHS, and Chris Cummingham, of MTHS. Other guests were Bob Gestrich and Arnold Lilly, of Mead Containers Corp. Visiting Rotarians were Max Whiteside, of London, and Dr. Jack Weinrich, of Greenfield.

BGSU rescinds fee increase

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan's effort to hike aid to state universities by 5 per cent has allowed Bowling Green State University to rescind a recently-announced student fee increase.

University President Hollis Moore said in a statement Tuesday he "applauds Gov. Gilligan and legislative leaders from both parties for this clear indication of their... demonstrated interest in higher education."

Gilligan made his recommendation last week after saying the state income tax was expected to procude $118 million more than earlier estimates. He said the excess could fund more aid to higher education.

The 5 per cent increase in aid would be in addition to Gilligan's original 3 per cent increase in aid.

Hysterectomy Is Safe Operation

I have recently been told that an operation for the removal of my womb is necessary. I am frightened, but more concerned by the stories that abound about the unnecessary surgery that is performed for conditions like mine.

Mrs. K. G., Mass.

Dear Mrs. G.:

Stories about unnecessary surgery always make good copy in newspapers and magazines. Nevertheless the removal of the uterus is a remarkably safe operation. It is to be expected that it would call forth a degree of rightful anxiety. There are many psychological factors involved with this type of surgery that often seem to threaten femininity.

Many studies on the pyschological aftermath of hysterectomy indicate that the well-adjusted woman who is thoroughly prepared for this type of surgery need not react adversely to it.

Many misconceptions about hysterectomy exist in the minds of women. These misconceptions are unrelated to educational background.

It is important for greater emotional security that all aspects of the operation be fully discussed with your doctor. Only in this way can you be liberated from the anxiety associated with this or any other type of surgery.

There are many controls in hospitals that prevent unnecessary surgery. Committees of physicians carefully review the records of all operations. This system acts as a safeguard to the patient.

All tissue removed during surgery is sent to the laboratory for microscopic study. The tissue diagnosis is then carefully compared with the preoperative and surgical diagnosis. These safeguards are maintained for private, clinic, and ward patients.

All surgeons are aware of an undercurrent of concern that patients may not express. They frequently suggest another opinion when patients give such evidence of concern.

Patients can, in a very adult and mature way, ask their doctor for another confirmatory opinion when major surgery is advised.

Weather conditions blamed in five traffic accidents

Snow covered streets and highways were listed as contributing factors in five traffic mishaps investigated by sheriff's deputies Tuesday. There were no injuries in the crashes.

Betty J. McCloud, 21, Bainbridge, was cited for speed excessive for road conditions following a two-car crash on Ohio 41, just south of Rowe-Ging Road at 6:10 a.m.

Officers said she lost control of her northbound car on the slick pavement and traveled left of center into the path of a southbound car driven by Christine Garinger, 36, Rt. 6.

Both cars were extensively damaged.

Other mishaps were:

TUESDAY, 7:30 a.m. — A parked semi-rig owned by Signer Bottle Co., Cincinnati was struck by a hitskip driver while parked on the Royal Castle lot, U.S. 35 and I-71. The rear of the cab was moderately damaged.

TUESDAY, 7:45 a.m. — A car driven by Anna M. Bland, 38, Fairborn, went out of control on U. S. 35 at Ohio 753, and slid off the pavement into a ditch; damage minor.

TUESDAY, 7:50 a.m. — Ronald D. Morrow, 16, New Holland, lost control of his car on Old Springfield Road, just east of U.S. 22, and struck three rods of fence on the Paul Elrod farm; damage moderate.

TUESDAY, 7:50 a.m. — A car driven by Elaine K. Cockerill, 21, Rt. 1, went out of control on U.S. 62, just north of Rowe-Ging Road, and damaged two rods of fence on the Walter Parrett farm; damage moderate.

$130 coat stolen; bicycles recovered

A black leather coat, valued at $130 was stolen from a rack at the Union 76 Plaza restaurant Tuesday. George McNew, Flakes-Ford Road, told sheriff's deputies the coat was taken sometime between 6 and 11 a.m.

Police recovered two bicycles from an alley at the rear of the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home, Tuesday morning. The bicycles were tagged and taken to the city garage for storage until claimed.

Union trustees add maintenance men

Herbert Satterfield was employed fulltime for work on the 25.11 miles of township roads, and Thurman Yates was hired parttime to take care of the cemeteries Tuesday night by the Union Township Board of Trustees.

Satterfield will devote most of his time to mowing roadsides, grading berms and keeping a close check for breaks in paved surfaces.

Yates will take care of the Sugar Creek Baptist Cemetery, U.S. 35-N, and the Sugar Creek Methodist Cemetery, Palmer Rd. These are the only burial grounds in Union Township completely under the jurisdiction of The Trustees.

The trustees, who have made periodic inspections of roads, reported they found they came through the winter in "pretty good shape." However, their inspections disclosed that some of the culvert pipes should be cleared of debris. The cleanout of the culvert pipes is a continuing process.

Routine bills which were approved amounted to less than $600.

Banc group earnings up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— First quarter earnings of $3.2 million, a 17.2 per cent increase over the same period last year, were reported Tuesday by First Banc Group of Ohio, Inc.

Fayette County to share state, federal monies

Fayette County is to receive $25,900 in federal Public Employment Program funds, according to U.S. Rep. William H. Harsha, R-6th Ohio. A total of over $2.1 million was approved for six counties in Ohio's Sixth Congressional District.

The funds will be used to hire unemployed persons for public service jobs and to undertake summer jobs programs for disadvantaged youth.

Other counties in the district to receive funds are: Clermont, $896,300; Scioto, $478,400; Warren, $707,800; Brown, $39,200, and Pike, $29,200.

HARSHA ALSO announced the approval of $2.8 million in federal funds for the education of disadvantaged children in Ohio's Sixth District.

The amounts, by county, available for expenditure are: Adams, $244,875; Brown, $184,135; Clermont, $258,007; Clinton, $167,992; Fayette, $129,961; Highland, $215,599; Pike, $226,406; Pickaway, $141,863; Ross, $338,994; Scioto, $659,930, and Warren, $229,142.

The program serves over 20,000 school age children who are handicapped, delinquent, neglected, from low income families or in foster homes.

Burnett sent to Lima State

Joseph L. Burnett, 27, of 706 High St., has been ordered committed to Lima State Hospital for a term of not more than 60 days for a mental examination.

Burnett was convicted April 3 by a Fayette County Common Pleas Court jury of rape and sodomy.

The mental examination was ordered by Judge Evelyn W. Coffman.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Jacqueline Deskins, 615 Park Dr., has been granted a divorce from W.L. Deskins, on grounds of neglect. The parties entered an agreement for custody and support of a minor child and a division of real and personal property.

JUVENILE TRAFFIC

Jeffrey Lynn Wilson, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wilson of Rt. 5, Washington C.H., was found to be a juvenile traffic offender on a Sheriff's Department charge of operating a motorcycle without a license. The youth was ordered to attend a defensive driving course. The case was continued pending the sale of the motorcycle.

Beth A. Wilson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Wilson of Rt. 2, Greenfield, was found to be a juvenile traffic offender on a charge of speeding. Her operator's license was suspended for 30 days.

South Solon pleads for flasher lights

SOUTH SOLON — A nine-man delegation, headed by Mayor Stanley Marsh, told the Ohio Public Utilities Commission at a formal hearing Tuesday why they feel flasher lights should be installed at the DT&I Railroad crossing on Rt. 323 at the northeast edge of the village.

The commission, after hearing the evidence, took the matter under advisement and said the village would be notified when a decision is reached.

Accompanying the mayor to the hearing were Kent Ozumm, of Grove City, the village attorney; the Rev. Daniel Parker, of South Solon; School Principal Timothy Knisley, County Commissioner Ed Pennington, of Mount Sterling; County School Superintendent J. R. Palmer; Richard Cory and County Engineer Neil Babbs, of London.

Subdivision suit testimony heard

The trial of Gilmore Homes, Inc., vs. the Fayette County Board of Commissioners continued Wednesday in Common Pleas Court.

The suit, filed by Jess Gilmore, seeks a court order to direct the platting of two subdivisions which have twice been rejected by the commissioners.

The proposed subdivisions are located at the intersection of Ohio 41-N and Inskeep Road.

Newfoundland has no snakes, skunks, poison ivy or hay fever.
